LAUNCHED TO-DAY.

The Big Cruiser New York in Her Element.

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—The armored cruiser New York, designed to be the most formidable as well as the largest man-of-war in the United States navy, was launched this afternoon with appropriate ceremonies at the yard of the Wm. Cramp & Sons' ship and engine building company.

On the platform at the ship's bow an altar had been constructed. It was decorated with bunting. Within its horseshoe Miss Helen Page, of New York, broke the customary bottle of champagne over the bow at the moment the vessel started on its first voyage.

WANTS HIM DEPOSED.

Paris, Dec. 2.—Several leading papers are urging the government to demand that the vatican depose the Archbishop of Aix.

HE'S IN AN ASYLUM

Edward M. Field Taken to Vernon House.

Closing Acts in the Mad Man's Career.

Self Destruction Was But Narrowly Averted.

Cyrus W. Field Stripped of All His Wealth.

He Trustingly Gave the Key of His Strong Box to His Son, Who Emptied It of Everything of Money Value—Where Did It Go?

New York, Dec. 2.—The Sun this morning says that Edward M. Field, who wrecked his firm, stripped his father, Cyrus W. Field, of all possessions, and upon whose life there is an insurance of $600,000, has attempted suicide.

In what manner he sought to kill himself is not recited in the papers on which he was committed yesterday by Judge McAdams of the superior court, to Vernon house, at Mt. Vernon, as a dangerous lunatic.

Application for the commitment was made to Judge McAdam last evening at his home. This course was adopted by the Field family, evidently to avoid publicity. The affidavits which were offered are voluminous. In these affidavits Drs. Fitch and Ingram, well-known insanity experts, declare under oath that Field is a madman, dangerous both to himself and to others. They go into details of his insane actions and declare that he made an attempt upon his own life.

Mr. Field was taken to Mt. Vernon at 9:55 last night. It was learned authoritatively that the commitment is but a temporary resort pending public proceedings to determine judicially whether Mr. Field is a lunatic or not.

Cyrus W. Field, who is now, it is feared, dying, has been absolutely stripped of his possessions by his mad son.

The following story came from the lips of the impoverished man himself on his sick bed and is repeated by a friend who heard it. Three days after the funeral of Mrs. Cyrus W. Field, Edward entered his father's sick room and told him some of the difficulties. As the friend relates:

Cyrus Field told me that his son Edward came to him and said he must have money to save him from ruin and disgrace. He did not tell his father the extent of his troubles. He said he must have money immediately to tide him over for a short time.

Cyrus Field directed that the key to his strong box be handed to Edward and he said to his son: "There is the key to the box containing my securities. Take enough of them, my son, to help you through your troubles."

Edward took the key and furthermore took every security in the box and Cyrus Field told me he was now as poor as the day he entered the world. The mystery is where all the money has gone to.

The amount of securities taken by Edward from his father was in the neighborhood of $300,000. Cyrus W. Field has not been considered a very rich man since his heavy losses in 1877 and this was, as he himself said, all he had in the world.

ATTACKED BY AN ELK.

An Oregon Hunter Has a Narrow Escape From Death.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 2.—Wm. Ireland, of Melton, while hunting on John Day river, in Grant county, was himself hunted by an elk. He shot the animal which fell, and he ran to cut its throat. The elk arose and attacked the hunter with its horns and forefeet, rendering him unconscious. Ireland soon recovered consciousness and found himself lying along side his foe, whose vicious attack had been a death struggle. It was 24 hours, however, before Ireland was strong enough to drag himself to camp. His wounds are dangerous.

LONDON DIVORCE SUIT.

London, Dec. 2.—The suit of Countess Russell for separation from Earl Russell, on the ground of cruelty, was begun today. There was a brilliant audience. The countess in her testimony gave many instances of brutal treatment on the part of her husband. The countess was willing to abandon the suit if a suitable allowance were made for her support. The court at this point adjourned.

REDEMPTION OF BONDS.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The amount of 4 1-2 bonds redeemed to-day was $2,600, making the total redeemed to date $21,830,450, and leaving outstanding $3,624,250. The redemption of these bonds has resulted in a decrease of nearly $1,000,000 in the bonded debt since the 1st inst. During the same period there has been an increase of nearly $3,000,000 in the treasury cash available for the reduction of the debt.

TESTING THE M'KINLEY BILL

Straws Which Show What the Decision May Be.

Much Interest Manifested by the Law Makers and Law Breakers Alike in the Case.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The questions with which the justices of the supreme court interrupted counsel who were arguing the unconstitutionality of the McKinley bill are regarded as indicating a hostile attitude on the part of the court to the position assumed by counsel.

Chief Justice Fuller interrupted Mr. W. Wickham Smith, of New York, to inquire whether there was any proof in the record that his clients had paid out any money on account of the sugar bounty clause of which they complained.

Justice Gray, with equal significance, inquired whether the contention was that the whole act was unconstitutional because of this one bounty clause.

Justice Bradley still more pointedly asked of Mr. Bliss, of Chicago, in respect to the accidental omission of the tobacco rebate clause, "Your position, then is that wherever an enrolling clerk, by accident or by fraud, happens to omit a section of a law, although that law is reported to the president and signed as a law, it is void?"

When Mr. Bliss replied in the affirmative it was evident that Justice Bradley did not agree with him.

BRAZIL AT THE FAIR.

The Recent Troubles in the Southern Country Don't Cut Much of a Figure.

Washington, Dec. 2.—On the 26th of October the Brazilian chamber of deputies appropriated the sum of $300,000 to pay the expense of the representation of that republic at the World's Columbian exposition. The president recommended an appropriation of $550,000, but the congress cut down the amount. It is not known whether the senate concurred in the appropriation before the congress was dissolved, but the Brazilian minister to this country is of the opinion that the recent troubles will have no effect upon the representation of the republic at Chicago in 1893.

Resolutions Adopted by N. Y. Democratic Committee.

Legal Aid to be Employed to Keep the Republicans from Stealing the General Assembly.

New York, Dec. 2.—The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the New York democratic state committee yesterday:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this committee it would be detrimental to the best interests of the state and the democratic party for Gov. Hill to relinquish his office as chief magistrate until the expiration of the time for which he was chosen.

Resolved, That it is the sense of the committee that the best interests of the democratic party would be subserved by holding the national convention in this city.

FIVE LIVES WERE LOST.

Fatal Fire in Detroit Last Night.

Of a Family of Seven Only Two Escaped.

Father and Mother and Three Children Taken from the Burning Building, Their Bodies Roasted to a Crisp.

Detroit, Dec. 2.—A frightful fatality occurred shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, when in the partial burning of the two-story brick store and residence of George J. Reis, at the corner of Orleans and Catharine streets, five persons lost their lives. The dead includes five of Mr. Reis' family of seven—Mr. Reis himself, his wife and three sons. Eight persons occupied the apartments above the store; but three of them, the servant girl and two sons, Moxie and Tony escaped.

It was within a few moments of 2 o'clock when the patrolman on the beat noticed the blaze. The fire was in the front part of the store and spread rapidly. After turning in the alarm the officer ran to the burning building and saw the servant girl and Tony Reis climbing out of the front window to the cornice. Another boy, Moxie, aged 15, was on a roof back of the building. The latter climbed down the lightning rod and escaped uninjured. Tony and the servant girl jumped, but were caught safely by firemen.

When a door leading to a rear stairway of the house was broken open the bodies of Mr. Reis and his wife were found lying in a heap at the foot of the stairway. They were burned to a crisp. The firemen at once made their way to the upper floor and there found first the body of Charles Reis, aged 20, stretched on the floor near a side window and in one of the front rooms were found the bodies of two children, boys, Eddie Reis, 8, and Josie, aged 12. The bodies were taken from the burning building and removed to a livery stable across the street. The dead are:

GEORGE J. REIS, aged 50.
MRS. REIS, aged 45.
CHARLES REIS, aged 20.
JOSIE REIS, aged 12.
EDDIE REIS, aged 8.

The boys had been suffocated. There is no clue as to the origin of the fire. The damage to the building and contents will amount to about $2,000.

SCIENTIFIC FARMER.

An Auglaize Man Who Goes About It in the Proper Manner.

Wapakoneta, O., Dec. 2.—(Special)—Yesterday J. H. Manchester, the wealthiest farmer of Northwestern Ohio, closed a deal with one of the grain merchants of this city for the sale of 10,000 bushels of corn. This is the largest deal of any kind ever made in Auglaize county.

Mr. Manchester has raised over 20,000 bushels of corn this year, which he raised by plows all run by steam.

He will bring this fruit to market by a regular train of wagons, drawn by a road engine. He will bring it in installments of from 800 to 1,000 bushels at a time.

THE AMERICAN HOG.

He Is Still Causing Trouble in Germany.

Minister Phelps Cannot Pave the Way to His Successful Entry Into the Land of the Kaiser.

Berlin, Dec. 2.—A number of deputies, representing country districts, have entered a formal complaint before the budget committee in regard to American pork. They claim that trichinae have recently been frequently found in American pork and they ask that steps be immediately taken to prohibit the importation of American pork.

Dr. Von Boetticher, the minister of the interior, replying to these complaining deputies, said that the importation of American pork in the future would be prohibited unless thoroughly inspected in the United States.

Dr. Von Boetticher added that if after this inspection trichinae were found in American pork, the government would be forced to entirely prohibit its importation.

The deputies appeared to be satisfied with this statement, and there is no reason to believe that if the Germans who are hurt by American competition in pork succeed in making a clear case against the importers of pork, that rigorous measures will once more be taken against the United States hog.

ROUND HOUSE BURNED.

Sandusky, O., Dec. 2.—The Lake Erie & Western round house in this city, together with three locomotives, two belonging to the L. E. & W. and one to the Columbus, Shawnee & Hocking road were totally destroyed by fire last night. The blaze started in the oil room. The fire department did efficient service, but it was impossible to save the property.

COMSTOCK AT WORK.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—Anthony Comstock, of New York, the agent of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, to-day confiscated $1,000 worth of books and photographs found in the possession of C. N. Caspar, an antiquarian bookseller. Caspar was arrested.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Wapakoneta, Dec. 2.—(Special)—The regulator house of the Wapakoneta Natural Gas company was destroyed by fire and this city is left out in the cold.

It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

It will be 48 hours before it can be fixed.

OHIO DENTISTS.

Columbus, Dec. 2.—The Ohio Dental Society opened its eighth annual meeting at the Hotel Chittenden yesterday, with President E. G. Betty, of Cincinnati, in the chair. About twenty-five members out of about one hundred and fifty answered to their names on roll call, and included the following officers: President, Dr. E. G. Betty, Cincinnati; Vice President, D. J. R. Callahan, Cincinnati; Secretary, Dr. Otto Arnold, Columbus. A number of other members are also in the city making the total in attendance about seventy-five, and it is expected that the meeting will be well attended.

Findlay, Dec. 2.—The clothing store of The Young America Clothing company has been closed by Sheriff Bartoon, on three executions from the common pleas court of this county. One is in favor of the City Bank, for $1,500; a second and third from the Ashland county court in favor of Leopold Hess & Co. and Sol J. Hess, for $8,124.28 and $1,851.80 respectively. The company was at heavy expense and had small trade for a long time, and the failure is no surprise.

Hard Lines for the Men on Board—The Steamer Prescott Sunk in a Collision Off the Eastern Coast.

Hull, Mass., Dec. 2.—Schooner H. Prescott of Bristol, Me., Capt. Grant from Sullivan, Me., for Boston, with granite, is sunk in Broad sound. She was in collision with an unknown fishing schooner yesterday. The Prescott was badly stove and soon after sank. The crew of five men took to the boat and attempted to board the fishing schooner, but were not permitted to do so by those on board, who crowded on all sail and went to sea as rapidly as possible. The men then rowed to Long Island, where they landed. Capt. Grant is the principal owner of the Prescott.

A passenger train had just left when the men came into the depot and presenting revolvers demanded the money and valuables in the place.

SOME TAFFY FOR TWO.

Secretary Blaine and President Harrison

Are to Write Letters on the Coming Contest.

Both Will Declare That They Are Loyal to Each Other and That Neither Wants the Presidency Very Badly.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Mr. Blaine will take occasion during this week or in the course of a very few days to state his position on the subject of the presidential nomination next year.

He will do this more out of interest in republican success than hope to be the occupant of the white house himself.

Mr. Blaine recognizes the fact that to permit the present condition of uncertainty to continue is to breed factions in the party which may rise up next fall and embarrass the standard bearer, whoever he may be, and the distinguished secretary of state is too good a republican to suffer the use of his name for any purpose to a point which will hazard party success.

It is not known what means he will employ to state his position or what it will be, yet it is definitely known that he has made up his mind to cut the Gordian knot and let his friends know what he will and will not do in the way of their use of his name for the presidency next year. There will be no estrangement between the secretary of state and the president. One will favor the other for the nomination. For the present and the next year their political interests are one. Thus far, at least, an understanding has been reached between the two men.

FOSTORIA DOINGS.

A Farmer Plows Up a Lost Pocket-book —General Mention.

The Fostoria Glass works has at last removed to Moundville, W. Va., and a new company, the Seneca Glass company, takes its plant and goes on with a new line of ware.

The Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company is putting in a pipe line from Burgoon to Millersville. The same company is drilling on the farm of W. S. Richards, in Bloom township, Wood county.

THE ANDREWS DEAL.

One Company Cuts Down in Order to Pay Another.

New York, Dec. 2.—The Herald this morning says it has learned that the terms of settlement between the Standard Gaslight company and its ex-president, Wallace C. Andrews, were that Mr. Andrews and the Monheimer and the Spinola estates agreed to pay back $3,000,000, which the company claimed rightfully belonged to it.

Simultaneous with this action, which insures peace, came the news yesterday that the New York Steam Heating company, of which Mr. Andrews is president, is about to undergo a reorganization.

The plan, which is in the hands of the stockholders, proposes to reduce the capitalization from $7,500,000 to $5,000,000.

MILLIONS IN MILK.

Elgin, Ill., Dec. 2.—It is understood that arrangements are completed for the transfer to an English syndicate of the five milk condensing factories at Carpentersville, Ill., and at Brewster, Wassac and Walden, N. Y. They have been owned by the Borden and Millbank families for over twenty-five years. The purchase price is not stated, but as their net revenue last year is said to have been over $750,000, it must be $12,000,000 or $15,000,000. The Borden heirs, living here and in California, are in New York on this business.

ANARCHISTS IN OHIO.

Sensational Arrest Made at Buchtel.

A Branch of the Chicago Band Doing a Flourishing Business in the Buckeye State.

Nelsonville, O., Dec. 2.—Henry Steiger, of Buchtel, has had Henry Hanning, of the same village, arrested for maliciously stoning his residence and threatening his life.

Sensational developments will follow. Steiger asserts that a nest of anarchists exists in that place, who are in direct communication with the red-handed brotherhood at Chicago.

The headquarters for this section is at Jacksonville, this county, from which place incendiary literature is sent broadcast.

Steiger was inveigled into joining the camp upon the representation that it was an organization having for its object the bettering of his condition.

When he discovered its real nature he refused longer to subscribe for the lurid organ of the fraternity and to the papers circulated in behalf of the families of the executed and imprisoned anarchists, and has since been persecuted in divers ways. Steiger is a man of good reputation.

TOLEDO HUMANE SOCIETY.

It Is Doing a Vast Deal of Good Work,

And Is Not as Well Supported as It Should Be—The Monthly Meeting Last Night.

The December meeting of the Toledo Humane society was held at the room of the society last evening. There were present the president, James M. Brown, vice-president, O. S. Bond, Infirmary Superintendent Kirkby, T. P. Brown, W. A. Rundell, Humane Agent France, and Mesdames R. G. Bacon, Cole, Segur, Morgan, Macomber and Brooks.

Mrs. Bacon, chairman of the children's committee, reported upon the good work done through that committee during November, also that she had been investigating and was prepared to act upon the case of a young girl on Erie street, the details of which it was not best to make public.

The summary of Agent France's report for November is as follows: Relief furnished, 5; cases investigated of abuse of children, 11; abuse of wife and family 10; convictions secured for neglect and cruelty in case of wife and family, 4; in case of children, 4; admonished in similar cases, 5; cases of abuse of horses, 2; of mule, 1; of dog, 1; neglect of animals, 2; horses laid up, 3; charge of cruelty to animals not sustained on investigation, 1; horses shot, 5; cow shot, 1; sent to Retreat, one girl; returned to his home, one boy; taken to New Home, two children; incorrigible dealt with, one boy. The total number of children looked after in November was 71; number of office calls, 438; number of calls by telephone, 207; persons seeking advice at the office, 13.

It was reported to the meeting that Mrs. A. B. Cole, of the Humane society, had been appointed to the Children's Home in place of Mrs. Judge Howe, resigned, and Mrs. Cole was requested to furnish a monthly report to the society concerning the home.

The question was raised by Superintendent Kirkby whether the law of the state would compel a wife to support her husband, he being sick and she having means, and it was held that under the dower law as at present in force the support must be given. The infirmary directors have an interesting case of this kind on their hands.

The question of the jurisdiction of the society in Lucas county was also raised, as the Sylvania board of health complained that proper precautions were not being taken by a family in that village in which there was diphtheria. President Brown held that if the facts were as stated any member of the society could enter complaint and the proper court would see that the law was enforced.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the financial condition and the pressing needs of the Humane society. Chairman Rundell of the finance committee reported that only $140 had been sent in in answer to the appeal circulars sent out by the committee, while the issuance of the appeals had cost the society $40.

How to acquaint the public more fully with the work and the needs of the society, President Brown held, was the most important question to be considered. The press of the city was very generous to the society, gave its meetings full reports and was always ready to record a case or present an appeal. Mr. Brown thought, however, that the society itself should issue a monthly statement and send it directly to those who are, or should be, ready to support the work of this society. The right effect was not reached through the newspapers because their reports were not, after all, official statements, such as could be made through a little official organ. The reports, such as the agent presents every month, are mere skeleton. Behind each case was a story, often one of moving interest, which the society itself could best present. There were cases in which, for the sake of the worthy parties helped, secrecy must be preserved. There were many others which could with propriety be given in detail, and by doing this Toledo people could be shown how great was the usefulness of the society and how much it was entitled to the support of their pocket-books as well as to their sympathies.

Vice-president Bond was of opinion that the newspapers were the best medium through which to make the society's work known to the public. Mrs. Macomber thought the society's circulars might be thrown in the waste-basket, but the newspapers were read. A number objected to the cost of issuing a printed report by the society, but President Brown held to his opinion that the cost would be a trifle compared to the increased revenues that would be secured were the public better informed as to what the society was doing and what it needed. By a direct appeal, either through personal solicitation or a monthly report, the right effect might be reached, as the good will of good people was with the society, but they do not realize its usefulness.

Mr. T. P. Brown favored personal solicitations, and reminded the society that not only was that the way other like organizations raised funds, but that the Humane society one year raised $600 in this way, when each member actively canvassed for funds.

Mrs. R. L. Segur thought there should be some way in which more of the moneys raised by taxation should come to the society, also that a stricter watch should be kept upon the funds accruing to the society from police court convictions. President Brown said upon the latter point a monthly report in writing must hereafter be made to the society.

Superintendent Kirkby thought a part of the Dow tax collected in the county should come to the society, although as the law now provides this goes to the state. He said that through the fall and winter season the calls upon the society and infirmary directors averaged 100 calls a week, and the same people who made these calls, expecting everything they reported should be looked up and looked after, did not contribute $1.50 a week. Besides money, all the second-hand clothing that could be collected was needed, as in cases of diphtheria all clothing had to be destroyed, which was very hard on poor people, unless the infirmary could supply other clothing for that destroyed.

President Brown said the society's part of the dog tax was practically nothing, as payment for sheep killed by dogs had first to be made from this fund and usually took it all.

The meeting adjourned without fixing upon any definite plan for raising money, but the matter will come up again in January. Meantime it is well the people of Toledo should understand that this society, of which they all approve, is laboring with hands tied for want of money that should be generously given by those who want it to continue in good works. Its expenses are $1,500, all its officers and committees serving without salaries. The voluntary contributions to it are about $250. Is this right? And have not our citizens neglected to do their duty?

The society feels deeply grateful to Mrs. Pliny Watson, who recently sent a contribution of $25 across the ocean for it. What will those nearer home do?

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT.

And Another Family Robbed of Its Breadwinner.

Parks' ambulance was called out to the C., H. V. & T. depot about 11 o'clock last night to receive the fragments of what a few hours before had been a man in the vigor of life. Charles Bohlander of Columbus, in charge of the C., H. V. & T. line at Rockwell junction, between here and Walbridge, was the unfortunate victim. In some unexplainable way he was caught by a car and almost the entire train passed over him. His head was severed from his body, as was one arm and both legs. One foot was also cut off from the leg. Mr. Parks prepared the mutilated corpse for burial and forwarded it to Columbus at 10 o'clock this morning. A wife and four children mourn the loss of the husband and father.

The organization of the union will be completed at that time.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The French Spoilation Claims.

To the Editor: "Is the United States Government Honest?" is a leading paper in Bilford's Monthly and Democratic Review for November, 1891. Among statements made of a disproving character, we quote the following:

"This paper, incomplete as it must necessarily be, would be noticeably defective if it omitted an allusion to the French spoliation claims. For about a hundred years this class of creditors has been crowding the classic porticoes of the treasury department, with the heart-sickness which accompanies hope deferred. The original claimants and two succeeding generations of their heirs went to their graves with the painful conviction that their government was unjust and dishonest. Again and again these claims were presented to congress, were examined by committees, were reported as perfectly valid, but still payment was withheld. Probably no question in the history of this country has been the subject of so many able and elaborate reports. They come down to us from the earlier days of the republic, sanctioned by such immortal names as Livingston, Webster, Everett, Cushing, Charles J. Ingersoll, Clayton Choate and Sumner. And of living statesmen and lawyers none stand higher than those who have maintained the obligation of the government to pay these claims. Tardy and partial justice—most tardy and most meagre—has finally been rendered; but the many who lived in want and died in despair left as the only heritage to their children a keen and bitter sense of the dishonesty of the government."

Yes, the restitution was so tardy and so meagre as to include but one small appropriation. Another bill will be presented to the coming congress, by which the honesty of the United States government, though tardy and very meagre, may in an ignoble manner—ignoble at the best—redeem itself.

We commend the above mentioned article to all fair-minded citizens. It would appear from its statements that all foreign governments of however small degree, hold themselves amenable to law for the payment of debts to nations as well as to individuals; the United States alone constituting herself an arbitrary power strangely in opposition to republican institutions.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a falat or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." George A. Page, Watertown, Mass.

The Crossing of Hens.

A Germantown Telegraph man says: A neighbor of the writer has the past year experimented with a cross of Plymouth Rock on Wyandotte hens. Both parents were thoroughbreds. The offspring show the Rock color plumage, but have the Wyandotte comb. As layers he believes them to be superior to either of the breeds empolyed, and as table birds he cannot say enough. Speaking of the cross retaining the Plymouth Rock plumage reminds us that every cross we made yet, where a Rock male was used, the Rock plumage predominated. We have had like results with the Langshan fowl. Upon the subject of crossing this latter breed, Miss A. C. Croad, a noted Langshan breeder of England, says The Langshan shows itself to be a pure and distinct breed by the way in which it stamps itself upon a cross. She relates that a Mr. Muirhead used the Langshan and La Fleche as crosses, and in the fifth cross all the birds came out with every appearance of being pure Langshans. A Mr. Cook has within the last three or four years brought out a bird he has called the Orphington. He tells us he has used three breeds in its formation. Now the Langshan has so stamped itself on this composite bird that when they appeared side by side in the show pen they gave rise to a real "comedy of errors." On more than one occasion a good true Langshan has won over a prize Orpington in an Orpington class under an Orpington judge. Very few breeds hold their own when mixed with others, but certainly the Plymouth Rock and the Langshan do most admirably. Males of either of these breeds would bring up a flock of common hens in good shape, and we would advise our farmer friends to try it.

In the center of a saw-log, 32 inches in diameter, that was found at Moore, Mich., was an Indian tomahawk. It is six inches in length, and has a blade of roughly-forged iron, about two and a-half inches long. The solid timber over the head of the tomahawk was ten inches in thickness. It is estimated that it had been in the tree two centuries.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED,

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

Labouchere, in London Truth, has this to say of the monarchy: "Its abolition is is not within the area of practical politics, nor will it be so long as those who have at heart its continuance are wise in their generation. The monarchy has devoted adherents amongst the upper classes on account of its social aspect; the middle classes like it because they have a notion that it is respectable; the artisans and the agricultural laborers have grievances that touch them more closely, and a change from a monarchy to a republic would not so directly benefit them as the removal of these grievances. At radical gatherings, whilst I have never observed any ardent desire to sing 'God Save the Queen,' I have never heard any desire expressed to substitute a republic for our present system. Were a parliamentary candidate to address an electoral meeting on the advantages of a republic he would be deemed a tilter at a windmill, and he would be requested to favor his hearers with his views upon more practical and more immediate issues."

It is reported from Munich that experiments are being made in Austria with the view of replacing steam by electricity for rapid railroad travel. A new railway is projected on which instead of trains, single cars of great length will be propelled by electricity supplied to them through the rails.

The speed to be obtained is from 120 to 150 miles per hour. To provide against accidents the roadway is to be built on solid masonry, without curves, steep gradients being adopted instead, if necessary. The great momentum of the cars will enable them to climb grades which would be insurmountable to a steam locomotive.

As a further safeguard, the signalman will have the power to stop the cars by shutting off the current in their section of track. The first experimental line is projected between Vienna and Buda-Pest.

Even the beautiful Jungfrau, the famous Alpine peak, is not to be spared from the desecration called progression and modern improvement. Herr Trautweiler is planning to build a railway up to the top of Jungfrau, whose height, 13,671 feet, has heretofore kept people at that distance which lent enchantment.

According to Mr. E. P. Roggen, says the Washington Post, one of the principal advocates of Omaha's claims in the late contest over the convention matter, a new secret society has lately sprung up in the west that bids fair to become an important factor in state and even national politics. "This society," said the gentleman at the Arlington hotel, "is styled the A. P. A., which probably stands for American Protective association. It is exceedingly strong in Omaha, and in the recent elections brought about a sweeping victory for the local republican ticket.

"The city and county had previously given big democratic majorities, but the A. P. A.s' revolutionized existing conditions. The order is also assuming big proportions in Chicago, and I think it will become a power in every western city.

"Opposition to the foreign element seems the basis of its origin. I can't tell you much about it, for all its workings are mysterious. It seems to have sprung up in a day, and it certainly gave the republican party in Nebraska a boom of tremendous size."

An expert mining engineer states that he considers that electricity will in time revolutionize the mining industry of this country, especially in all operations where the ore has to be raised from great depths and considerable expense has to be incurred for pumping, ventilation and crushing. Electric motors have recently been introduced on the Comstock lode with great efficiency. In conveying water in flumes to the mouth of a shaft and allowing it to fall to the level of the Sutro tunnel, a force equal to 680 pounds to the square inch was obtained,, but the problem was to trasfer this power from the tunnel level, where it was not wanted, to the stamp-mills, where it could take the place of steam.

The electric motors that were used to convey this power from a point 1,600 feet below the surface to the mills on the surface showed a loss of about 40 per cent., the horse-power obtained amounting to 435.

With steam as a motive power it was found impossible to treat economically ores carrying less than $15 of gold or silver to the ton, but by the use of electric motors it is expected that low grade ores containing as low as $5 worth of the metals can be successfully treated at a profit.

The simple fact is this: Select at random 100 modern authors, and, unless you hit upon an unusual list, not 25 will you find who, if they would tell you, are earning over $2,000 a year by their pen, writes Edward Bok in the Epoch. This may sound discouraging, but I think the truth of the assertion will be borne out by any well posted literary man. The author who earns more is either a particular genius in his line, or he resorts to other and incidental kinds of work, such as reading for the publishing houses, editing books or writing advertisements. But let him confine his pen to purely legitimate literature, and he must be industrious and clever to earn the sum stated above.

I know it is the fashion to quote fancy figures as the incomes of certain authors, and in some cases the figures are undoubtedly true. But when figures are cited as the income of the author of good ability and average reputation, be assured that they are biased when they exceed $2,000, or, at the outside, $2,500 per year. Men like Mr. Howells, Frank Stockton, Robert Louis Stevenson, Bret Harte, Dr. Holmes, of course, are not referred to here. They are exceptions, and unquestionably have large incomes. But the rank and file of authors of good repute, having names that are frequently seen and have become familiar, is the class I speak of in this paragraph. I have been taken into the confidence of not a few, and I am not abusing that confidence when I say to the young author: Don't be led into the belief that the literary waters are green with banknotes, or that the average author hears nothing but the clink of the dollar.

It is rather an interesting operation to note how few of the thrones of Europe are destined to descend in a direct line. England, Germany, Russia and Italy rejoice, it is true, in direct heirs. But the future emperor of Austria is the brother of the present sovereign, and so, too is the next king of the Belgians, and the future king of Saxony as well. In Bavaria the crown will pass from the mad King Otto either to the present regent, his uncle, or to that regent's oldest son, Prince Louis. The little king of Spain has a charming heiress in the person of his eldest sister, the Princess Mercedes. Should the little Queen of Holland die unmarried or childless, her crown will pass to her aunt, the Princess Sophia, who is quite an old lady, being 68, or to the eldest son of that princess, the Grand Duke Charles Augustus of Saxe Weimar Eisenach, whose eldest son, Prince William Ernest, has already been mentioned as a possible candidate for the hand of the little queen.

NO MORE DEATHS

Reported To-Day from Saturday's Collision.

A Bee Visits St. Vincent's Hospital,

And Finds the Patients Doing Very Nicely,

With Prospects That All Will Now Recover.

The Coroner's Inquest Con inues at the Court House—Statements of the Witnesses—The Scene of the Wreck Viewed.

No more deaths from the Lake Shore collision have been reported since yesterday, and at noon all the patients at the hospital were doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. A visit to St. Vincent's this morning found the patients all resting quietly.

Mr. McKenzie is simply distracted over his loss, and it is with the utmost difficulty the good sisters can prevail on him to leave the bedside of his wife in order that he might receive a few hours' sleep. Mrs. McKenzie, by the way, is much better.

Both Dr. Murphy, whose name is Reuben and not Rudolph as published—and J. C. Anderson, are also improving. Dr. Murphy's face and hands are dreadfully burned, but he said this morning he passed an easy night and felt much better.

Mr. John Campbell, who is connected with the Manhattan railroad, New York, and who was west for his health, is much better. His brother-in-law arrived from Omaha last evening, and he is happier today in consequence. His face is terribly burned, black and swollen. This morning he was able to see a little out of one eye.

Mr. Anderson is a young man of about 26. He is commercial agent for the Burlington road with headquarters at Chicago. He is about the only support of a widowed mother and a large family of little brothers and sisters.

Mrs. McKenzie is only 27 years of age. She passed a restful night and good hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Mrs. McDonald was also reported better, but the loss of her two little children has completely prostrated her.

The victims now that the burns and bruises have had time to blacken, look much worse than they did on Sunday, but all say they feel better.

Doctors Hollister and Van Pelt have rendered heroic service, and the patients are very grateful to them.

Mr. and Mrs. James were this morning removed from the public ward to private rooms, and both continue to improve, although they still look very bad.

The patients have nothing but the kindest words for the sisters, and well they may, for gentler and more sympathetic nurses cannot be found.

"Kindness is better than physic," said Mr. Campbell this morning, speaking of this matter.

"Yes, we have been kept very busy," said the mother superior to a Bee, "but you see it is our simple duty, and we are doing all we can for the poor things. We have had two more injured people added to our list since yesterday."

One was Herman Vanattie, 735 Forest street, who was badly injured in the back and head by a Lake Shore engine yesterday.

The other was a little colored boy, George Grayson, of Auburndale, whose foot was so badly injured that it was necessary to have it amputated. He proved a little hero.

He was lying on a cot this morning talking of the accident in a good humored way.

"Does it pain you much?" he was asked.

"Oh, not much. I feel it though," and even the feeblest of the patients who lay around smiled at the lad's nonchalance.

"Say, sister," he added, "can't I have a story book to read?"

"A story book, my child. Why certainly. I have not charge of the library, but I will see that you have a story book."

And the little fellow was happy, while the sister continued her cheerful and kindly visit from cot to cot.

Miss Bertha Dick, Mrs. McKenzie's nurse, was much better this morning and will recover.

Now that most of them can use their eyes, the injured are all desirous of seeing the papers which gave accounts of the accident.

Yesterday Afternoon's Inquest.

The only witness examined before the coroner yesterday afternoon was Charles W. Humphrey, of Toledo, conductor of Lake Shore train No. 6. He has been 18 years in the employ of the Lake Shore road as brakeman, baggageman, freight and passenger conductor, and has had regular charge of No. 6 since last June.

But little information was gained from Humphrey, and he evaded almost every question, even of the simplest kind. For two hours the lawyers kept at him, but the most of his answers were, "I can't say," "Don't remember," "Paid no attention," and the like.

Leaving out the many questions the important points in his story are as follows:

"I looked at my watch just before we passed Air Line Junction and it was 4:53, so that we were four minutes late. My train did not stop at the Junction but passed through at a speed of about five or six miles per hour. This speed was increased somewhat until near the Swan creek bridge, when the train slowed down again. I was between the front two cars and jumped off, saw a flag man get on the engine, and as my train came by I got on the rear platform of the last car. I looked at our bull's eye tail light and found it burning brightly. My brakeman was also on this rear platform, and he had in his hand his red and white lights and I had my own white light. I stayed on the rear platform looking up the track until after the tunnel was passed."

When asked how fast his train was running after picking up the flagman, he stated that he did not know, but that it was running slowly.

"I did not know that 109 was behind me, according to the schedule mine is the last train in and I was late. My train had not stopped when the collision occurred. Just before we entered the tunnel, I should think about a car length from the west end, I looked back and could see the lights at the Junction and saw no train between us at that point. I saw two head lights running diagonally on other tracks and supposed they were switch engines.

"Just then my vision became obscured by the smoke and steam trailing from our train before we were quite in the tunnel, and asked the brakeman if he saw anything coming. He answered that he thought he saw a train just leaving the Junction. I told him to jump off and flag it and he attempted to do so, but just then we entered the tunnel and he could not get off until we were through. As soon as we came out on the other side he jumped off with his lights and I did not see him after that.

"About that time I thought I heard the exhaust of a coming engine and the click on the rails but could see nothing for the smoke and steam in the tunnel. Then I heard a peculiar sort of crash, which I afterwards learned was the breaking of my brakeman's lanterns in his hands, and as I looked up I saw the flicker of an engine. I jumped and the engine passed me and ran into the rear coach of my train. I afterwards looked and found that we were run into about three car lengths from the tunnel.

Among other questions Mr. Barber asked him what was the average running time and the answer was:

"I dont know, never paid any attention to it."

"How fast do you usually run through the tunnel?"

"I couldn't say; we often pick up flag men."

"Were you running faster or slower than usual?"

"I can't say as to that."

"What time are you due at the Junction?"

"We are due at the Junction at 4:49 and at the Toledo station at 4:55."

"How fast must you run to make that time?"

"I don't know anything about it."

"When your brakeman got off did you look back for this train?"

"No, sir."

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"How long was it after your brakeman got off that you heard this peculiar crash?"

"I couldn't say, kept no track of it. Should judge it was at least 20 or 30 seconds."

"Could the brakeman have reached the other side of the tunnel before you heard that crash?"

"I won't say, possibly he could."

"Do you know the speed with which that engine approached you?"

"I couldn't say, exactly; it passed me before striking the coach. Should judge it was running at least 30 miles an hour."

"What became of your rear light,"

"I don't know, didn't look. The engine must have struck it."

Mr. Draper questioned him at great length but brought out little news.

"Are you able to fix with anything like accuracy the point where your vision became obscured?" asked Mr. Draper.

"I should judge that it was about a car length from the west end of the tunnel."

Mr. Draper—"From where your vision became obscured to where the collision occurred is about 500 feet, and you were running about six or eight miles per hour. Do you desire to be understood that the F. & P. M. train ran from the Junction to where the collision occurred while you were running that 500 feet?"

"I couldn't see any train before we entered the tunnel."

"Do you mean to say that the train came down from the Junction while you run 500 feet?"

"To the best of my knowledge they had not left the Junction before we entered the tunnel."

"To do this, at what speed would they be obliged to run?"

"I don't know."

"Will you compute it?"

"I don't care to."

"Do you know how far it is from the Junction to the tunnel?"

"That's according to what you call the Junction. I call it right near that overhead bridge."

"How far is that from where the F. & P. M. train stops?"

"I don't know."

"How far is it from the tunnel?"

"I can't tell."

In answer to more questions from Mr. Draper the witness described the signals at the Junction, and again told of picking up the flagman somewhere near the Swan creek bridge.

"You passed on, leaving no one to take his place, did you?" questioned Mr. Draper.

"Yes, sir."

"Do you know why that man flagged you?"

"No, sir."

"You knew there was some obstacle ahead?"

"No, sir."

"Why didn't you protect the rear end of your train?"

"I didn't think it necessary. I didn't know there was anything behind."

"Didn't you know that you were running at a speed so that a train might overtake you?"

"No, sir."

"You have found out since that you were?"

"I don't understand you."

"What did you do when your brakeman jumped off?"

"I don't remember."

"Did your train make any noise?"

"I don't know, I didn't listen."

There was much more questioning of the same kind, but the only further information elicited was the fact that the steam about the rear end of his train was caused by blowing out the steam in the heating apparatus. He was asked but few questions by the Lake Shore attorneys.

The inquest adjourned at 4 o'clock, and the coroner with the attorneys visited the scene of the wreck at the time when it occurred and watched the movement of trains about that point. The attorneys of the different roads called his attention to numerous points, and Mr. Draper thought the Lake Shore should have some signals about the tunnel.

This Morning's Testimony.

The coroner's inquest was continued this morning and the time was spent in examining two witnesses and gaining but little light on the matter.

The first witness called was J. O. Bradeen, foreman of the Lake Shore engine house, this city, and his testimony was introduced to corroberate a conversation which Mr. E. D. Potter had with fireman Schott on the night of the accident.

Mr. Bradeen's statement was that on Saturday night he with Mr. Potter and Mr. Sheldon had entered the cab of the F. & P. M. engine after the accident. After they had gotten in the fireman climbed up, and among other things Mr. Potter asked him where he first saw the signal light to stop, and he answered that he first saw it just before entering the tunnel. He also said that the fireman could not tell what color the light was that he saw.

Mr. Bradeen said that on Sunday he measured the distance from the tunnel to the west end of the Lake Shore coach that was struck and found it to be 343 feet.

Mr. Draper cross-examined the witness at great length, but he insisted that the fireman had stated that he first saw the light before he got into the tunnel.

Mr. Bradeen was also questioned considerably as to his judgment in a case like that of Saturday, and supposing he were engineer or conductor. He considered that an engineer in making the run down from the Junction should have his engine under such control that he could stop in a very short distance. He also thought that it was an engineer's duty to stop before going into that tunnel if it was so filled with smoke that he could not see through it. In his judgment a train running 12 miles an hour could stop in 200 feet and a train running 20 miles an hour could stop in 400 or 500 feet.

He stated that when there is no obstruction in the way the Toledo station lights can be seen at Air Line Junction.

When asked if, in his judgment, a conductor should send back a flagman when his train is running slowly in the yards, said that he did not consider it necessary for the reason that any train following should be under such control as to be able to stop before reaching any obstacle in front.

Messrs. Draper, Southard and Barber put many questions to him on this and other subjects of like character, but did not shake him from this position, and no further facts were developed, as he did not see the accident, but was at the station at the time and went to the scene afterwards.

C. A. Sheldon, assistant train master, was also examined as to the conversation in the F. & P. M. cab, and he stated that Schott had told Mr. Potter that he first saw the signal light just before he got into the tunnel, and that he could not tell what colored light it was.

Mr. Sheldon was at Air Line Junction when the accident occurred and ran down to the scene on a pony engine. He had seen No. 6 pass the Junction slowly, but did not see No. 109.

He was positive as to what the fireman had said, and considered that the fireman was cool and clear-headed at the time.

He was also questioned as to his judgment and construction of rules, but no further facts were brought out.

His testimony concluded the inquest for the morning and an adjournment was taken for dinner.

Mr. M. J. McInema, of Mansfield, inspector of tracks and bridges in the state railroad commissioner's office, is an interested spectator at the inquest, and is keeping close watch of the evidence in order that the department may take the necessary action in the matter if any body is found to be blamable. He takes copious notes and asks questions of the witnesses when he thinks necessary.

One of the Victims.

The following dispatch from Auburn, N. Y., concerning one of the victims in Saturday night's wreck will be of interest:

Superintendent Wells, of the Auburn electric railway, announced at his boarding house Saturday that his cousin, Hallowell Vaughan, a wealthy ranch owner of San Fernando, Cal., would arrive during the day for his first visit in six years. Before starting on the long journey the cousin, for the first time in his life, took out a life insurance and accident policy for $3,000, and mailed it to his Auburn relative for safe keeping. This arrived safely but the expected visitor only reached Toledo, where he was killed in the railway accident of Saturday night. His father had come on here to meet him, but left for Toledo yesterday and will take the body to Cambridge.

CUT OFF THE GAS.

Manager Heston Finds a Cause for the Recent Shortage.

Manager Heston, of the city natural gas department, returned from an investigation to the city gas fields, and believes he found a cause for the shortage in gas during the past week.

It appears that a four-inch pipe connecting one of the chief wells with the main line had been tapped and allowed to blow off. The well was on full head and the loss during the days it blew off was very considerable.

The party who did the tapping is known, and Manager Heston is consulting to-day with City Solicitor Read with a view of having him prosecuted.

The carriers have looked like the advance guard of Santa Claus' army, with their packs on their backs, so full of mail matter. But the boys are hustlers, and can attend to it all.

FIXING FOR A STRIKE.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2.—It looks as though a strike would be declared on the Southern Pacific system which will involve a large number of men. The employes demand an increase in wages and a number of conferences have been held with railroad officials in order to come to some agreement, but nothing has been accomplished.

TOLEDO, OHIO, DECEMBER 2, 1891

What turn in United States politics makes it appear advisable for Chile to bristle up again?

St. Paul is joined by Minneapolis in the work of securing the national democratic convention and Chicago will also assist the twins. The combination ought to be strong enough to win.

Three and twenty-nine members of the Lincoln club in Cincinnati have publicly expressed their senatorial preferences. Of this number 264 favor Sherman and 65 prefer Foraker. A very long straight straw.

It is with a feeling of home pride that the Bee announces that the Hon. Charles Perseverance Griffin confidently expects to be elected speaker of the next Ohio house of representatives. This information is official.

The democratic state committee of New York has adopted resolutions requesting Gov. Hill to retain his office until January. In the present legislative difficulty the democrats prefer to not trust Lieutenant-Governor Jones. They want a democrat at headquarters.

The explosion on Summit street yesterday is somewhat a mystery. It may have been natural gas, sewer gas or illuminating gas. If the latter the inquiry is pertinent whether there be naphtha used in its manufacture. This subject is commanding attention in other cities.

All sorts of park schemes are suggested under the new Toledo law, the one of greater magnitude than the rest being to transform the marsh from Forest cemetery to the mouth of Mud creek on Maumee bay into an immense park. There are about fifteen hundred acres in the marsh and the tract is six miles long.

Referring to the Brice matter the Columbus Dispatch, republican, says: "Judge Nash is a busy man and is too mature in wisdom to turn into a rainbow chaser." Which means that sensible republicans like the Judge will have nothing to do with the insane idea of attempting to unseat Ohio's democratic senator.

In reply to an inquiry of the Cincinnati Times-Star as to W. I. Squire's senatorial preference, the distinguished foremost republican of Toledo indited this: "Anybody will do. We have a thousand men in Ohio who could fill the bill." How diplomatic and politic. Perhaps Mr. Squire is in W. I.'s mind's eye as one of the thousand.

The enforced resignation of Secretary Tracy, which is foreshadowed, all because of a squabble about navy yard patronage, will mark another bright spot in the civil service career of this administration. Secretary Tracy is not sufficiently partisan for the use of the present official powers, and the hour draweth on apace.

There were over six thousand labor strikes of large significance not to mention the lesser ones, in this country during the year just passed, the year in which higher rates of taxation for the protection of labor went into effect. What's wrong? Must the tax be doubled again? If this is, indeed, the cure-all, evidently the dose is too small.

This opinion of the republican press of Ohio is not clipped from a democratic newspaper, but is from an editorial in the Commercial Gazette:

There is not a half dozen first-class republican papers inside of Ohio, if we except those under the dominion of federal patronage, that advocate the re-election of the "grand old man."

More than one hundred Ohio republican newspapers support Sherman. Comment is unnecessary. It is a republican row.

Toledo should be ably represented at the convention to be held in Detroit on the 17th of this month to consider the problem of improving the channels and harbors of the great lakes. In many respects this will be the most important meeting of this character ever held, and if the deliberations shall be intelligently directed the effect upon future congressional action will be greatly beneficial to the whole country—especially the lake interests. The Toledo Produce Exchange is entitled to five delegates to the Detroit convention. The members should see that the Exchange is properly represented. Here is the opportunity for Toledo to make a commercial advance of much importance. The opportunity should not be neglected. The Exchange should send a strong committee to Detroit.

The first of the full-armored battle ships of the new navy was successfully launched at Philadelphia to-day. It is an immense engine of war capable of fighting the largest ship afloat and having a coal storage capacity of running 25,000 miles without re-coaling. Its name is New York and Gotham is proud of its namesake. The work of rehabilitating the American navy, which commenced during Secretary Whitney's admirable management of the navy department, is progressing with commendable speed. The country is fully alive to the necessity of having something better than tubs to represent the government on the high seas, and having made so good a beginning congress will hardly change the present policy until the navy shall be first class in every respect.

It is difficult for a layman in the party to understand how the election of either of the honorable gentlemen who aspire to be speaker of the national house of representatives, can affect the democratic prospects next year. We are told by democrats who arrogate to themselves great leadership and super political acumen that the election of Mills means certain defeat. Another set of bosses say Crisp's election signifies the triumph of protection, therefore the rout of democracy. Still another class of leaders see negative strength in Springer. McMillan would be a Jonah if his support were sufficient to give him a fighting chance for the leadership. Such talk is stuff and nonsense. The party never had better representative congressional leaders than these four, Mills, Crisp, Springer and McMillan. They are congressmen of experience, democrats of standing, and tariff reformers of reputation; and either would make an able and graceful speaker. The principles of democracy are too great to be affected by the election of a speaker. The people of the United States are grounded in the faith of tariff reform, and with Grover Cleveland or any other able tariff reformer as the candidate for president the election in 1892 will score a great democratic tariff reform victory. The speakership is only an incident.

CARNEGIE'S MONUMENT.

There will be a Carnegie monument in the world's fair grounds, a tower that shall overtop the affair built by M. Eiffel, in Paris. While it is eminently proper that the "multi-millionaire iron baron" should have a monument commemorative of what unjust taxation will do for one business and one man, in this land of "equal rights," it is a marvelous pity that an original idea couldn't have been hit upon instead of copying from the French. The Eiffel tower is a decided "chestnut." The inception and building of the original was a marvel, but a copy is nothing but —a copy. And we pretend to be a people of original ideas and inventive genius. Perhaps the strongest argument in the case is that the original has paid for itself and made millions for its owners besides. Then again, Mr. Carnegie has some shareholders in with him and he will furnish the structural iron. Look at the ridiculousness of the idea. Pile millions up in a series of iron lifts to tower above the prairie lands of the lake country, when one can board a train and be borne in a few hours to the peaks of the lofty Rockies, three times as high as man can build, and what grandeur spreads out before his vision.

Mr. Carnegie wrote an apologetic sort of paper for an American magazine a while ago, about the time the foreign laborers in his mills were striking for living wage, and hunger and disease were decimating their numbers. In that paper he said it was God-ordained that some men should hold the funds that rightfully belonged to others—hold them in trust, as it were, because they were more capable judges as to their expenditure for the laborers' own good than the laborers themselves. It is following this precept of his, no doubt, that Mr. Carnegie decides to build for himself a Carnegie monument to proclaim his greatness to the world, when the world assembles in Chicago at the Fair of '93.

IS THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT HONEST?

The United States is, without doubt, the most boastful country under the sun, and without doubt it has more to boast of than any other country. It has grander expanse of territory, more magnificent rivers, lakes and mountains, more fertile valleys, more productive plains, greater diversity of climate, more ingenious, inventive and enterprising people, more happy and handsome women, and more gentle and chivalrous men than any other country. But it also does some very vain boasting, some searching for motes in the eyes of others when it should be plucking out the beams from its own eyes. When it boasts of honor and integrity, there be those ready to take issue.

The question, "Is the United States honest?" was asked and answered the other day in the columns of Belford's Monthly, and the facts presented pro and con (mostly con) should be pondered and borne in mind when we are wont to indulge in campaign glorifyings or Fourth of July pyrotechnics. Mr. Hopkins, the writer, does not desire to be classed as a "calamity shrieker," so he admonishes his readers in the beginning that "the patriotism which sees and endeavors to correct evils in the national government may be as sincere and intense as that which closes its eyes in a rapture of emotion and vents itself in extravagant panegyrio." It is, evidently, in sorrow and not in anger that he arraigns his government.

His first count is, the government doesn't pay its debts. A man who doesn't pay his debts, especially when he is amply able to do so, is promptly and justly stigmatized as dishonest. One government enforces its obligations against another, but a citizen is at the mercy of his government when, in any way, he becomes its creditor. A case is cited from the records in which the learned judge is constrained to say: "The legal redress given to a citizen of the United States against the United States is less than he can have against almost any other government in Christendom; and the United States holds itself, of nearly all governments, the least amenable to the law."

A damaging statement, truly, and one feels constrained to be indignant that it ever should have been uttered and that it is permitted to remain on the official record. But justice demands a hearing of the evidence. Perhaps the strongest document, in a way, in the prosecution of the examination, is "A Century of Dishonor." The essayist mentions two especial cases of the many there tersely presented. Briefly sketched, the transaction with the Choctaw Indians is as follows:

In 1830 the Choctaws ceded certain lands to the United States. They were recognized as an independent nation by the conditions of the treaty. The purchase was regularly consummated and the title to their property secured. While payment was delayed they were transformed into the "wards of the nation," and the money due them remained in the hands of their guardian. They had no legal redress; they could only petition and plead. This they continued to do. Twenty-five years later another treaty was concluded in which it was said that the United States

"Justly appreciating the sacrifices, faithful services and general good conduct of the Choctaw people and desirous that their rights and claims against the United States shall receive fair, just and liberal consideration, it is therefore stipulated that it be submitted to the senate of the United States to decrmine the amount due."

"Four years later (in 1859) an award was made, or, rather, named. The senate resolved that "the Choctaws were entitled to the proceeds of the sales of their lands already disposed of by the United States (minus the cost of survey and sale), and that they should be allowed twelve and one-half cents per acre for the lands remaining unsold" (not one-tenth of their market value). And this was the "fair, just and liberal consideration" (mentioned by the senate) to be meted out to them after thirty years of waiting. One year more and the secretary of the interior reported the amount due the Choctaws to be $2,981,247. But still "the sacrifices, faithful services and good conduct of the Choctaw people" mentioned in the solemn treaty did not secure the payment of the debt. At last, in 1861, congress appropriated about one-sixth of the amount—$500,000—and one-half that sum was paid. Again and again the Choctaws sent their brightest representatives to Washington to plead for at least the other $250,000 of the appropriation. In 1874 a committee of the house of representatives was appointed to review the case, though what review was necessary is not plain. The house committee resolved that "the United States cannot, in equity and justice and without national dishonor, longer refuse to pay the debt;" the debt then, forty-four years old, no interest paid, and being scaled down with every review.

In 1881 a law was passed by which the court of claims was authorized to again review the question. After acknowledgment of the honest debt again and again, a scaling down and small payment, the whole action is repudiated and the case thrown into court of law, necessitating more delay and more costs. The decision could but be in their favor, but now, "in the year of grace, 1891," the solemn obligation to the Choctaws, secured by two treaties, the action of both houses of congress, and by a United States court, the debt sixty years old is still unpaid! "Is the United States government honest?"

The treatment of the Cherokees is similar and scarcely more credible. The case of Gen. Fremont is cited. Published by the government as a defaulter to the government, he went to cancel the debt as soon as he was able and found a considerable sum to his credit on the books. The payment of it scarcely compensated for the humiliation of the man who had rendered such signal services to his government, and this in his old age. The debt for the cotton seized by the government officers during the war of the rebellion is another instance noted. The supreme court has passed upon it and said it should be paid. The proceeds of the sale of the property (some $24,724,022) were turned into the treasury of the United States and the greater portion of it is there yet, or rather was up to a couple of years ago. The history of the French spoliation claims (quoted by a correspondent in another column of today's issue) is another very damaging presentation. And these, briefly sketched, are not all the points in evidence. Verily we may ask ourselves with due humiliation, "Is the United States government honest?"

The good little Sunday school boys of Chicago who are taught in their weekly lessons that, not a sparrow falls to the ground without the heavenly Father's notice, are just now engaged in slaughtering the English sparrow by the hundreds for a bounty of two cents a head. Perhaps because the sparrow is English the exception may be made, for it is become the custom with some of our people to assume that the Lord joins with them of our countrymen who hate the English for political purposes, and who believe that He sent them short crops and us long ones the present season, to express his partiality. Chicago is consistent in its ideas of protection; it compels every boy to make affidavit (and pay twenty-five cents therefor) that he is a citizen. This is to shut out the pauper labor of St. Louis.

Carter Harrison's paper proposes to republicans that they break the Harrison-Blaine botheration as to candidacy for '92 by booming Gen. Nelson A. Miles for the honor. The Chicago editor hasn't yet consulted Mr. Miles, he says, which makes the suggestion the more original. It is not certain, either, that he has considered the idea of fitness at all, as the only reason given for his suggestion is that a distinguished soldier would command support. It is not written in history that distinguished soldiers are as likely to make good presidents as undistinguished civilians.

When President-of-the-World's-Fair Palmer tells the New Yorkers that "Detroit is the healthiest and most wonderful city in the world" he forgets that figures belie him; he also forgets the unwarmed bobtail horse cars that perambulate at intervals along its antiquated thoroughfares. It is sometimes convenient and patriotic to forget, especially when one desires to be grandiloquent.

The notice given Rev. Dr. John Hall by virtue of the bullets of a madman, would have been worth thousands of dollars to an actor. However, a narrow escape like the Doctor's is not a matter for a joke.

According to reports, Harrison is determined somehow to find out Blaine's intentions, but the "somehow" is what puzzles and worries. The last straw on the wind is the announcement of Blaine's physician that the Secretary is a well man. The President might send a decoy letter; his secretary is a master hand at indicting epistles which are full of significance.

A CHEAP WHITE HOUSE DODGE.

There is a conspiracy among the ladies of the white house, backed by the president and his cabinet, to confine their future purchases of clothing to strictly American-made goods.

A wonderful little by-play this! Suppose they do purchase nothing but home-made goods. Does this alter the fact that the home-made goods themselves are subject to a tax measured by the tax levied upon the imported article?

The consumer does not escape the tax by refusing to purchase foreign-made goods. He is levied upon just the same for the support of the protected infants.

What does this little Harrison dodge in Washington amount to, then? And will it deceive anybody who has learned even the alphabet of the high protection policy? —Boston Globe.

Easy Question to Answer.

"Is the United States government honest?" This is the question asked by the Hon. James H. Hopkins in a current magazine. Well, no; it is not honest. No government is honest that compels a portion of its people to pay tribute in any form to another portion, under any pretense whatever.—Chicago Press.

A Times' Announcement.

The Times prints to-day the first installment of a story entitled "Alone on a Wide, Wide Sea." Lest readers should think it has to do with the fortunes of B. Harrison, announcement is hereby made that the sea referred to is not the sea of politics.—Chicago Times.

Quay Hit Again.

The Philadelphia Times publishes an editorial entitled "Thou Shalt Not Steal." The Times better look out or Senator Quay may take that for a personal attack and bring libel suit. Such declarations startle Pennsylvania.—Omaha World-Herald.

Dudley Snubbed Again.

A new $2 bill is embellished with the portrait of the late Secretary Windom. This seems to be a direct affront to Mr. Dudley, who first applied the $2 bill to the noble purpose of president-making.—Chicago Times.

The Place to Test It.

If the north-side inventor who claims to have perfected a plan by which he is enabled to dispel fog desires to give his scheme a decisive test he should try it on the next joint debate on the tariff.—Chicago Mail.

It Will Come.

There's a depression in tin plate circles which can be accounted for only on the theory of guilty consciences. For the lies uttered in the Ohio campaign there must come a day of reckoning.—Kansas City Times.

He Cawn't Do It, Doncher Know?

One of the principal duties of Col. Clarkson as chairman of the republican national committee will be to see that his own state does not go democratic.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat (rep.)

McKinley's Great Mistake.

Mr. McKinley made a great mistake in producing so large a potato crop. Some of the Michigan farmers are getting only 20 cents a bushel.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Bi-Chlorate of Gold, for Instance.

Public opinion continues to concentrate on the idea that the female figure on the new coin should take something for its complexion.—Washington Post.

OHIO HEALTH.

Columbus, O., Dec. 2.—Dr. Probst, secretary of the state board of health, went to Louisville, Stark county, to-day to investigate an epidemic of typhoid fever that has broken out in a Catholic Orphans' home there.

From there he will go to Oberlin to consult with the health authorities about a proposed system of sewerage. As it is, the sewage of Oberlin drains into a creek that empties into a stream from which Elyria, nine miles distant, derives its supply of water, and the citizens of the latter town naturally object. The Oberlin people are willing to do whatever may be deemed best.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Columbus, O., Dec. 2.—The following articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state to-day: The Waterproof, Air Tight Paper company, Sandusky, capital stock $25,000; the Bowling Green Electric Light and Power company, Bowling Green, capital stock $50,000; the Cincinnati Street Railway company, Cincinnati, increase of capital stock from $6,000,000 to $6,750,000.

The government of Japan owns and operates all the railways in that country, and from this source derives a large proportion of its revenues.

That it seems as if the late-comers at entertainments will never notice how uncomfortable they make everybody feel, especially when they drop in in the midst of a light selection, as was the case at Wheeler's last night.

OHIO'S SENATORIAL SEATS.

Still it would probably be perfectly safe to bet a cookey on Senator Calvin S. Brice as against Senator Joseph B. Foraker. The chances are that Joseph isn't in it.—Boston Herald.

A portrait of John Sherman has been hung up in the directors' room of the Bank of England, and the republican newspapers no longer contain references to the "debauching influence of British gold."—New York World.

Supt. Porter omitted to count a great many citizens of New York in his census of that state, but he appears to have taken particular pains to include Senator Brice in his schedules. In the role of a political census taker Supt. Porter is a distinct success.—Boston Herald.

It is probably mere love of stealing that has set the republican leaders of Ohio to plotting to get Senator Brice's seat. The gentleman for whom the presidency was stolen is still living in the state of Ohio, and the theft of a senatorship would be a lesser crime than that which followed the election of 1876.—Courier-Journal.

An ex-post-bello warrior in Ohio wants Foraker in the senate "to ram red-hot words down the throats of south-ners." This recalls the query of the German devil in the newspaper office when informed that the printers would mop up the floor with him every day or so: "Und vat vas I been doing vile dey vas mooping up der floor mit me, ant it?"—Memphis (Tenn.) Appeal-Avalanche.

Your Uncle John Sherman does not seem to be worrying over the prospects of his re-election as United States senator from Ohio. He has returned to Washington with his family and left his friends at home to look after the details of his senatorial nomination. When the critical time comes it would not be surprising to see Mr. Foraker and his insignificant following climb into the Sherman band wagon and boastfully claim that they did it all.—Chicago News.

The marriage of Miss Rachael Sherman, youngest daughter of the late general of the army, to Dr. Thorndike, of Boston, is set for the latter part December.

Queen Victoria pays her private secretary, Sir Henry Ponsonby, $10,000 a year and gives him a house, rent free. Sir Henry is a smartly dressed, well preserved man of 66.

Mrs. B.—"How is the contested-will case coming on, Mr. Shimmer?" Mr. Shimmer—"It's all settled, and in my favor." Mrs. B.—"I congratulate you. I suppose you'll be taking your family to Europe?" Mr. Shimmer—"No; but my lawyer is going to take his."—Brooklyn Life.

Mr. De Brute—"My wife has a dog which knows 100 different tricks. Wouldn't you like to have him?" Showman—"Indeed I would. Is he for sale?" "No." "Won't she sell at any price?" "No." "Then why do you speak to me about him?" "I was in hopes maybe you would steal him."—Judge.

"Remember, James," said the sorrowing parent to the family scapegrace, "if you spend your money in drink you will never get ahead." "But, father," responded the unrepentant prodigal, "I was out with the boys last night, and gee-whiz! but I've got a head to-day!"—Chicago Tribune.

NEW ALLIANCE PAPER.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 2.—Cincinnati has been chosen by several people's party leaders as the place for the publication of a central alliance and labor paper, which will be known as the Herald.

The plant of the Living Issue, owned by Mrs. M. L. Geffs, has been purchased and will be enlarged for the publication of the new advocate for public support. The paper will encourage the third party movement and seek to strengthen the party for the campaign of 1892.

EX-GOVERNOR JOHNSON DEAD.

Columbus, Ga., Dec. 2.—Ex-Governor James M. Johnson has died at the home of his son at Upatoi, near Columbus. His remains were brought to Columbus this morning. The cortege was met at the station by the local members of the bar and a large concourse of friends.

THAT COMING MESSAGE.

President Harrison is so busy grinding out his annual message that cabinet councils have to be postponed. One subject at a time seems to be enough for Ben.—New Orleans New Delta.

It is understood that one of the topics which will be discussed by President Harrison in his forthcoming message to congress is: "Sickness as an Element of Political Popularity."—Chicago Mail.

In his message to congress it is hoped that President Harrison will explain how it has come about that the reciprocity of friendship with the South American republics has been replaced by the reciprocity of hate.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

In a dispatch from Washington in an afternoon paper Wednesday—which seemed, by the way, to have been from the inspired pen of the famous "Giddy Gusher"—President Harrison was represented as saying to Mrs. Palmer that his message was to be a good deal in the nature of an encyclopedia." The president may rest assured that the more closely the document resembles an encyclopedia the less likely it is to be read by any save telegraph editors and proof-readers.—Chicago Times.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Whoever is elected speaker there is little reason to fear that the democratic majority in the house will not be kept in line for tariff reform.—Providence Journal.

The air about Washington is full of congressional ozone and bitter epithets hurled indiscriminately by over-zealous partisans in the speakership race. Hold your tempers, gentlemen! Whoever is chosen, rest assured he will be a good democrat.—Atlanta Journal.

TASTELESS ODORLESS A FOOD REMEDY
Why Preferable to Cod Liver Oil?
Because it is both food and medicine; fish and other animal oils are solely foods. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is a food, tonic, and alterative, and the greatest appetite, flesh, and strength producer known. It will relieve and cure the cough of Bronchitis and Consumption, is not unpleasant to take, almost as tasteless as water, acceptable to the weakest stomach, and does not nauseate or distress the patient as Cod Liver Oil is sure to do. It is doing more to save life than any other remedy in Wasting Diseases, Nervous Prostration, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, the after effects of La Grippe, Pneumonia, etc., and in Throat and Lung Diseases generally.

KITTY, MY COLLEEN.

Patrick J. Coleman.

Kitty, my colleen, 't is you that look winsome
Spinnin' the wool, with your beautiful smile,
L'ave off and let your ould gradmother spin some,
I've somethin' to whisper you out at the stile.
Troth! with your locks, love, so daintily curlin',
Your lips, that keep hummin' a fortunate tune,
And your weeshy white hands, that are twistin' and twirlin',
You're windin' my heart on the spindle aroon!
Arrah thin, Kitty,
It's you that look pretty,
S'ated so sweet at your ould spinnin'-wheel;
Winsome and winnin'
The while you keep spinnin',
My fate with your nate little ankle and heel!

You needn't mind tossin' your tresses so flaxen,—
Begorra, they're fair as a fortune o' gold.—
And your hand, Kitty dear, is so weeshy and waxen,
The soggarth should give it to some one to hold.
An' lips must be kissed if they're redder than cherries,
And an arm sure was made to encircle a waist;
Faix! your lips are so like a bunch o' ripe berries,
I'm thinkin', alanna, of thryin' a taste.
Arrah thin, Kitty,
It's you that look pretty,
S'ated so sweet at your ould spinnin'-wheel;
Winsome and winnin'
The while you keep spinnin',
My fate with your nate little ankle and heel!

Tunder and turf! it's a shame beyond sinnin'
To sit so provokingly silent, asthore;
It's high time for colleens to l'ave off their spinnin'
Whin the moon and their bouchals peep in at the door;
So come to your Barney, my darlin', so winsome,—
Ah! Kitty, you're breakin' my heart with your smile,—
Whist! aisy, aroon, let your grandmother spin some,
I've somethin' to whisper you out at the stile.
Arrah thin, Kitty,
It's you that look pretty,
S'ated so sweet at your ould spinnin'-wheel;
Winsome and winnin'
The while you keep spinnin',
My fate with your nate little ankle and heel!

Superstitious barbers think that the money earned by shaving dead men is lucky to gamble with.

It is still possible to purchase land in New Zealand at 10s. the acre, or to rent an acre at 6d. per annum.

There were 280,657 births and 150,353 deaths in the United Kingdom in the quarter ending September 30.

The Fresno county (Cal.) jail is said to be invaded by spooks, who keep up no end of a row and rapping at night.

Men do not now retire from business when they reach the age of three score and ten. Dr. James Kitchen, of Philadelphia, who is 92 years old, is believed to be the oldest practitioner in the country.

Venezuela has 56 holidays every year. On these occasions the people close their stores and enjoy themselves in chicken fights and other tropical amusements.

In the last 27 years the number of students attending Scotch universities has more than doubled; for in 1861 the number was 3,389, and in 1890 it was 7,000 odd.

The giraffe is now threatened with permanent extinction. Ten years ago herds of seventy and eighty could be found where to-day thirteen would be an exceptionally large herd.

The growth of the Argentine Republic in the past 30 years has been remarkable. According to recent statistics the population of the republic is now 4,000,000, as against 1,350,000 in 1861.

Some unnamed eastern philanthropist has given $50,000 toward a library fund for the Colorado college at Colorado Springs. Of this $35,000 will be expended on a building and $15,000 for books.

The shah of Persia is described by the opposition in his country as nearly played out. He drinks a bottle of brandy a day and uses much hashish and opium. The child that he brought to Europe with him, the son of his cook, is now his sole and irresponsible grand vizier.

"Most people," says an artistic gardener, "rake off the leaves from their lawns, and then to protect them smear them over with some vile compost. I can't understand why they prefer the rank flavored stuff to the beautifully variegated blanket of leaves nature provides for that very purpose."

Nature may be regular, but it has some very curious features. For instance, an Alabama man possesses a curiosity in the shape of two trout grown together like the Siamese twins. The body of each is perfect, but they are united by a membrane attached to their bellies. They are active and frisky.

On the estate of the Marquis de la Laguna, in Spain, a water wheel of 20-horse power runs a dynamo. Plowing by electricity has been proposed, and the current is to be transmitted to a field three miles distant, where a motor on a plow is to be operated. The cable to be attached to the plow is to be wound on a reel and drawn over the field.

Russian photographers who are unable to get a settlement from their sitters hang the portraits of the latter upside down in the show cases before their studios. The significance of this position is, of course, understood by the general public, and, it is said, the photographers' debtors in many instances hasten to place themselves right again in the eyes of their fellow citizens.

Burke, in his letter on "Natural Society," says that Sylla destroyed 300,000 men in each of three battles, one being at Cheronea. The Persians are said to have lost 230,000 men at Platæa. II. Chronicles, 13, xvii, records 500,000 slain on one side, which, however, may not have been in a single battle. I. Kings, 20, xxvi, tells of 100,000 men being killed on one side in a single day.

According to the Boston Transcript's "Listener," "I don't seem to remember" and "Not much of any" are idiomatic throughout the country, but especially in New York and Illinois. "Comfortably sick" is a Yankee joke; "I admire to drive" is a New England vulgarism, while "sick to my stomach is a nauseating phrase in use everywhere. The phrases "I feel like beer" or "I feel like beefsteak" he says are common in Boston.

The whisky made by moonshiners seldom becomes a week old, and very often it is drunk warm from the still, having the effect of broken glass on the palate. It is frequently adulterated, tobacco being added to make it bite, and rattleweed to make it bead. In the moonshine districts almost everybody drinks—men and women, old and young—and the mountain boy, on pleasure bent, carries a quart bottle of the stuff, a package of snuff and a six-shooter.

In the Augusta, Ga., exposition there are 24 states represented by their agricultural, mechanical, artistic and other products. Among the things run by electricity in the electric department are dental instruments, ice makers, automatic tank fillers, pumps, fans, drills, clocks, bells and an elevator 106 feet high. Many of the people living in the mountains and other back districts have been among the visitors to the exposition during the past fortnight, and far more of them are looked for before its close, on Saturday of next week.

All birds seem to have an instinctive knowledge that if they once surrender to the force of the wind, and allow themselves to drift like leaves, there are unknown dangers in store for them. They will hardly ever do so unless to escape pursuit, and then only for a few minutes, when their pace is so marvellously rapid that, in the case of land birds, a few minutes is sufficient to carry them out of the district they know into others from which they will perhaps never be able to find their way back to the fields which are their native home.

Among the noteworthy things Dr. Oscar Lenz saw when he traveled through Morocco a while ago were two little rivers that once a year, at the time of the greatest heat, are filled with red water. It is supposed the color comes either from a strata of red clay through which the streams may pass, or from myriads of little red organisms. Another curious stream was a large creek with waters almost as salt as those of the ocean. This creek comes from great beds of salt, of which it carries off a very considerable quantity in solution. In the dry season the creek bed is exposed and is found to be covered with a thick incrustation of salt.

Commodore Ramsay Furnishes Some Interesting Matter on the Navy —Postoffice Reports.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Commodore Ramsay, chief of the naval bureau of navigation, states in his annual report to the secretary of the navy that during the past year the Newark, Concord, Lancaster, Marion and Bennington have been commissioned as cruisers and the Swatara, Omaha, Dolphin and Ranger have been put out of commission. The Dispatch and the tug Triana were wrecked.

Commodore Ramsay invites the attention of the secretary and congress to the large number of candidates for admission to the naval academy that fail to pass the mental examination. This, he believes, is due to want of proper instruction and of time for preparation and he recommends that the law governing the appointments be amended so that appointments to the academy may be made one year in advance of the time of admission so as to enable those appointed to prepare for examination.

He also recommends that no naval cadet found deficient at any examination in either conduct or studies, and recommended to be discharged from the academy shall, unless upon recommendation of the academy board, be retained or reappointed, or appointed to any place in the navy before the members of his class shall have finally graduated and received their commissions.

In concluding his report Commodore Ramsay says there are no longer any old ships available for use as barracks and that for the success of the training system the time has arrived when it is absolutely necessary that barracks should be built for the apprentices, to contain in one building or group of buildings, mess and formation hall, dormitories, wash and drying rooms and other necessary offices.

Whitefield's Report.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The annual report of First Assistant Postmaster General Whitfield on the subject of salaries and allowances will show that the allowance of presidential postmasters salaries in effect July 1, 1891, resulted in 128 offices being assigned to the first class, 602 to the second class and 2,254 to the third class, making a total of 2,984 presidential offices July 1, 1891. This is a net increase of 12 first-class, 52 second class and 188 third-class offices, the aggregate amount of presidential salaries being $5,047,700, or an increase of $434,200 as compared with 1890.

The total gross receipts which accrued at presidential offices for the four quarters ending March 31, 1891, amounted to $50,305,057, being an increase of $2,875,695 as compared with the previous year.

The aggregate of salaries of presidential postmasters absorbed 10.03 per cent. of the receipts which accrued at presidential offices for the four quarters ended March 31, 1891. The grand total of gross receipts which accrued at presidential offices for the year ended March 31, 1891, amounted to 77 per cent. of the revenue of the postoffice department for the same period. The report contains a tabulated statement showing the number of presidential offices and the aggregate amount authorized for salaries of postmasters and the aggregate gross receipts by states and territories.

Legislation is recommended relative to the classification and salaries of clerks in the larger postoffices, the repeal of the limitation for allowances for rent, fuel and light for third class offices, allowances for boxes fixtures, furniture and miscellaneous and incidental items and stationary for presidential postoffices.

The expenditure for compensation of postmasters for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891, amounted to $14,,526,999.

BAD SKIN ERUPTION

Many Years—All Manner of Medicines and Doctors Fail—Cured in One Month By Cuticura.

In 1885 I had an eruption come out on my skin, and while at first it did not amount to much, it grew to be very aggravating and at times unbearable. The skin would get hard, inflamed, and peel off, leaving an entire new skin, acting same way for weeks at a time, always worse at nights. Have tried all manner of medicines and had doctors prescribe to no effect. I bought a box of CUTICURA RESOLVENT for my blood. I am fully cured, and in less than a month. It was a most aggravating skin disease, and now I am enjoying ease and comfort. I have had untold benefits. Anyone trying CUTICURA REMEDIES cannot help but derive benefit. Anyone writing me will receive an answer and my advice to give your REMEDIES a trial. A. B. PATTON,
Manager Postal Telegraph-Cable Co.,
Garden City, Kansas.

Doctor Uses Cuticura.

We have opened a drug store at this place and are having a splendid sale on CUTICURA REMEDIES, which we keep a full stock of. I would not be without your CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA, and CUTICURA SOAP for $500, just for the benefit it did my little boy. When he was six months old, his face was covered with eczema, and CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it. He is now three years old. We still use the CUTICURA SOAP, and wash him occasionally with it, to prevent his skin from getting rough. We have handled your medicines for five years, and never heard a complaint against them, but abundant praise. We sold our drug store in Kansas, and will continue in the drug business here.

BRAZIL NOT ALL PEACE.

Rebels in Rio Grande do Sul Are Turbulent.

They Refuse to March Under the Flag of Peixotto.

The Soldiers Have Lapsed Into Little Less Than a Mob and Want to Pull Away from the Central Government

Santiago, Dec. 2.—Dispatches received here from Brazil state that the outlook there is far less peaceful than is given out by the official statements.

In fact, the situation is dangerous in the extreme and serious conflicts between the troops of the new president, Peixotto, and the troops of the province of Rio Grande do Sul, are anticipated.

The latter have lapsed into a state of riotous insubordination and threaten trouble. One portion of them is in favor of maintaining the independence of Rio Grande do Sul, and another faction is in favor of a re-union with the United States of Brazil, on the ground that all cause of discontent was removed when [illegible] deposed the dictatorship.

President Peixotto has not yet given up all hope of restoring order in Brazil generally, and particularly in Rio Grande do Sul, without an appeal to arms; but, it is reported that the new president has determined, should all peaceful arguments fail, to appeal to the sword and leave no stone unturned to maintain the integrity of the United States of Brazil.

CRIMINAL ASSAULT.

A Norwalk Young Man Finds Himself in Trouble.

Norwalk, O., Dec. 2.—(Special)—Patsy McManus was arrested Monday night on the charge of criminally assaulting Nellie Easterwood. The girl claims McManus pulled her down the back stairs of the Brugman block, where a dance was being held on the evening of Nov. 25, and into a shed in the alley.

She escaped and started to run away, but was caught and pulled between two sheds, where McManus accomplished his purpose.

He was arrested by Policeman Kerner and locked up, but liberated in the morning on the girl's stating she would not prosecute.

She has since changed her mind and McManus was arrested as stated.

THE DYNAMITE THAWED.

Corunna, Mich., Dec. 2.—While workingmen at the Kincaide coal mines, two miles northeast of here, were engaged in thawing out dynamite cartridges last evening they exploded with terrific violence. The shed in which the men were at work was completely wrecked, and Michael Caster was killed and two of his assistants seriously if not fatally injured.

FILLING UP THE JAIL.

Henry County People Can't Keep Out of Trouble.

Two Brothers Arrested, Charged with Stealing—Another Man Bound Over for Criminal Assault

Napoleon, Dec. 2.—(Special)—Chas. and Thomas Leitan, two half brothers of Putnam county, are confined in the county jail. They are charged with stealing goods from a man named Martin living in Marion township, Henry county.

Martin missed his goods, consisting of saws, hammers, axes, etc., and suspecting the Leitens,procured a warrant and searched their premises.

The goods were found and the men arrested. Before Squire Hammann they plead not guilty and the court bound them over.

George Denser, living in Napoleon township, was arrested and brought before Squire Tressler yesterday charged with attempted criminal assault on Miss Leiter, who lives next door. There was sufficient evidence in the court's estimation to bind him over to common pleas court in the sum of $500 bail, which was furnished.

WATER AS THE BASIS OF MUNICIPAL LIFE.

If asked to name the most important requisite of municipal life I would answer an abundant supply of wholesome water. From such a supply flows the most marked advantages to the community—a high degree of public health, protection of property from destruction by fire and the speedy and certain removal from dwellings of waste products. Without it the vast aggregation of human beings on densely-built and compactly-populated areas which characterizes the modern city would be impossible.

The most of us are in the habit of taking the water-supply as a matter of course, and so long as we never have had any experience in a failure of it, we tacitly assume that the flow from our faucets is certain to go on, whatever may happen in the way of interruption of everything else around us. Suppose, however, that the evil day arrives which is said to come alike to all, and for the first time the life-giving stream refuses to flow either in bath-tub, wash-basin, kitchen-sink, laundry or water-closet, and suppose, too, that this condition obtains in every residence in the city, and that it is equally impossible to get the customary flow from the service pipes. Under this state of affairs everything stops until the water supply is resumed. In private houses, where cooking-ranges are fitted with water fronts, people find it impossible to prepare a meal of victuals until the water-front is disconnected and removed, an operation requiring the plumber or the universal tinker, both of whom certainly have more on hand than can be done at such a time of popular discomfort. Private residences and business blocks warmed by steam of necessity go unwarmed until the water-supply resumes its customary flow, and in manufacturing establishments depending upon steam for power it is equally impossible to proceed with the ordinary tasks while the deficiency lasts. The whole life of the municipality is seen thus to depend upon the maintenance of an uninterrupted supply.—The Engineering Magazine.

FREE DELIVERY.

Washington, Dec. 2.—W. J. Pollock, the superintendent of the free delivery system, postoffice department, has made his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891. It shows that the number of free delivery offices in operation at the close of the year was 510, an increase of 65 over the preceding year. The cost of this service was $1,072,080, which is $22,424 less than the appropriation for that purpose. The number of carriers employed on June 30 was 10,130, which is an increase of 1,064 during the year. The local postage during the year amounted to $11,174,754. The number of pieces of mail handled was 3,606,354,820.

MAY SOON DECLARE HIMSELF.

Washington, Dec. 2.—It is said that Secretary Blaine will in a few days publicly state his position with reference to the presidential nomination, with a view to putting a stop to party factions; that he and President Harrison have reached an agreement which looks to the success of the candidate and not an individual's promotion.

Weakness of sight is frequently the result of general debility. When the blood is impoverished every organ and sense suffers. As an effective, powerful, and economical tonic-alterative, Ayer's Sarsaparilla may be relied on every time.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Primrose and West's Minstrels To-Morrow Night.

Primrose and West's minstrels will be at the Wheeler opera house to-morrow evening and put on a great program. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat speaks of them as follows:

"Pope's opened to even more than the usual crowded houses afternoon and night yesterday. The attraction was Primrose and West's minstrels. Last year they were record-breakers, and it seems that they will break their own record this year. There is one thing peculiar about Primrose and West. Out of all the burnt-cork artists who formed combinations and became proprietors and managers they are the only ones who have remained together, and who have made money. Their floral first part is one of the best designs ever put on the minstrel stage. Primrose as one of the end men and West as interlocutor furnish a large proportion of the performance. Then there is Primrose's well-known song and dance, "The Swell," and it seems to improve as it is repeated. The "March of the Red Hussars," with its electric effects, conceived by Mr. West, is another great feature. Then there are a number of other acts in which they take a part at least, so that far from being figureheads, relying upon their names, they carry the entire show. Of the others, F. W. Oakland has introduced a new song in the program first given yesterday, "Little Darling, Now Good-by." Drummond and Stahley, as the musical blacksmiths, also do a splendid act, as do also the Brothers Borani in the disappearing demons. The closing act, "Trouble in Blackville," by the "Big Four," Smith, Waldron, Janson and Martin, is one of the most amusing things imaginable. There are also a number of other clever features, and some splendid singing, to the credit of Natus, Weber, Garland, Thompson, Tom Lewis, W. H. Smith, Paul Quin, Larry Dooley and Master Martin, but of them all "The Swell" of Primrose and the march of West, and their individual effect on the whole, as well as their participation in almost everything that is done, deserves to stand out in bold relief."

Notes.

"At the Bottom of the Sea," the drama which made such a hit last year, will be the attraction at the People's next week.

Look out for Old Jed Prouty.

"The Still Alarm" is drawing big houses at the People's.

THE LAW HAS NO TERRORS.

Miners Running the State of Tennessee.

Outrageous Proceedings in Which Whisky Among the Free Miners Seems to be the Chief Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 2.—There is renewed trouble among the miners at Oliver Springs. It began Friday when the free miners went on a spree and they have been terrorizing the region ever since.

On Friday they attacked the negro miners, firing hundreds of shots. They notified the terror-stricken blacks to leave the district or be killed. Many of the negroes fled but others called on the president of the mining company for protection.

The president secured the names of 10 of the leaders and got out warrants for their arrest. The accused men escaped to the mountains where two have since been captured.

The trials were set for Saturday but postponed. The miners demanded the dismissal of the warrants, and on this being refused they all struck and no work is being done to-day.

It is probable that the convict miners will be taken back, and the leaders in the attack on the negroes will be prosecuted. Many negroes had narrow escapes from bullets.

ON ITS FEET AGAIN.

Westinghouse Affairs Have Been Fixed Up.

Pittsburg, Dec. 2.—It is authentically stated that the organization of the Westinghouse electric and manufacturing company was practically completed last week by the covering into its treasury of $1,000,000 in cash by Messrs. August Belmont & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., and Brayton Ives, in payment for a similar amount of preferred stock, the sale of which they had guaranteed, and by the issue of $2,000,000 of preferred stock in cancellation of a like amount of debt.

A year ago the Westinghouse company was so seriously embarrassed that few believed there could be found a favorable solution of the difficulties.

BREWERY DEAL.

The Val Blatz Plants in Several Cities Turned Over to the Syndicate.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—The formal transfer of the Val Blatz brewing company's plants in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Denver has been made to the U. S. Brewing company of Chicago.

The sale was practically consummated six months ago and the transfer was made at Denver for the nominal consideration of $10.

The U. S. Brewing company, which is an English-American corporation, with a capitalization of about $10,000,000 immediately gave a mortgage for $3,500,000 to cover the purchase money.

The officers of the U. S. Brewing company are: President—Val Blatz; Vice President—Leo Ernest; Treasurer—Rudolph Brand.

THE RESULT OF MERIT.

When anything stands a test of fifty years among a discriminating people like the Americans, it is pretty good evidence that there is merit somewhere. The value of a medicine is best proved by its continued use from year to year by the same persons and families, as well as by a steady increasing sale. Few, if any, medicines have met with such continued success and popularity as has marked the introduction and progress of Brandreth's Pills, which, after a trial of over fifty years, are conceded to be the safest and most effective purgative and blood purifier introduced to the public.

That this is the result of merit, and that Brandreth's Pills actually perform all that is claimed for them, is conclusively proved by the fact that those who regard them with the greatest favor are those who have used them the longest.

Brandreth's Pills are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

MUST TURN RAUM OUT.

If the President Acts He Will Save a Scandal.

Such Is the Condition of Affairs That Confronts the Chief Executive of This Great Nation.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Representative Cooper, of Indiana, who introduced in the last congress the resolution providing for an investigation of Commissioner Raum's administration of the pension bureau and who personally prosecuted his charge against Mr. Raum before the house committee on invalid pensions, said to-day that if Gen. Raum retired within a month or so he believed there would be no investigation of the pension office by the Fifty-second congress.

Mr. Cooper added that if the president was determined to keep Gen. Raum the fight would be renewed. It was for the president to say, said Mr. Cooper, whether there should be a renewal of the strife.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles

London wheat market quiet and inactive; corn weaker. Weather wet but mild. Liverpool wheat 1-2 pence lower, corn one penny lower.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,131,384 bu., compared with 555,210 bu. on the same day last year.

Since the 1st of January [illegible] mers and 353 sailers with [illegible]s of wheat have passed Cons[illegible]e for Europe, against 1,282 steame[illegible] and 574 sailers in the corresponding time last year.

Berlin, Nov. 30.—The Vossiche Zeitung, commenting on the coming Russian prohibition of exportation of horses, says: The prohibition will be severely felt in Germany, which has been accustomed to import 20,000 horses annually from Russia alone.

Will that make a demand for American horses?

The stock of grain in private elevators at Chicago are reported at 2,053,000 bu. wheat, 726,000 bu. oats, 67,000 bu. rye, 270,000 bu. barley, and 17,000 bu. flax seed.

That makes the stock of wheat in Chicago 9,000,000 bu., it makes 3,472,000 bu. in private elevators in two cities which the visible supply compilers take no account of.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 576,174 bus. in excess of the corresponding Wednesday in 1890.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 677,113 bus. of wheat, and flour to an aggregate of 965,000 bus. The exports of corn were 86,125 bus. and of oats 10,351 bus.

English markets as reported herein are dull and lower for wheat and corn.

There is nothing new to-day which in any wise should affect values of grain. It is mostly who is buying and who is selling. The bears are again predonderate and the conditions of the trade, as heretofore set forth herein, are not sufficient to encourage strong buyers to support the market. The markets abroad close dull but not quotably lower. The sales for export at the seaboard are light. The export movement from four Atlantic ports to yesterday were large, aggregating in flour and wheat 965,000 bus., but it has no effect on the markets. Wheat declines very slowly, but very easily.

It has been a day of weakness in wheat in all the markets. At one time May wheat in Chicago was 1 3-4 lower than yesterday's closing. New York showed rather less decline.

Corn has been fairly steady east and west and closes about where it did yesterday.

In New York December wheat closed at 1c and May at 1c loss; December corn 1-8c better; May 1-8c lower; December oats 3-4c lower.

In Chicago December wheat closed at a loss of 3-4c and May at 1c; December corn at a gain of 1-4c and May unchanged; December oats 1-8c lower.

In Toledo the trading in wheat has been quite active, especially for May, but at lower prices. Opening deals for this future were at about yesterday's closing prices, but prices declined equal to 1 3-8c, and closed at a loss of 1 1-8c. December was very quiet, but also lost 1 1-4c at the close. On the call May sold at $1.02 1-8. After the call December sold at $1.04 and closed at $1.03 3-4; May sold at $.02 1-4 to $1.01, and closed at $1.01 1-4; January sold at 96 1-2c and February at 98c.

Cash wheat was in sharp demand at the decline and the sales aggregate 75,000 bus. No. 2 soft sold at opening at 95c, declined to 94c at which price most of it was disposed of. At the close 93 1-4c was the price, a loss of 1 1-4c. No. 3 soft at 92c. In the Wabash at 90c. No. 4 soft at 86c. Rejected No. 1 at 86c. No. 2 at 75c. No. 1 white at 92c. No. 2 at 91c.

Corn, No. 2 at 46; January, 43 1-4 bid; No. 3 at 44 1-2; No. 4 at 42. Oats, No. 2 firmer at 35, No. 2 white at 35 1-2; No. 2 mixed about 32 1-2. Rye was more active and 1c lower; No. 2 at 94 to 93 1-2, No. 3 at 90, rejected at 81 1-2 to 82 1-2.

Clover seed was about steady with more business reported than yesterday. Prime for cash at $5 10; December at $5 10. On the call December sold at $5 10; January at $5 12 1-2; February at $5 17 1-2; March at $3 25; No. 2 at $4 90.

Dressed Hogs.—Ninety-five head sold at $4 50.

SPADES THE FINAL TRUMPS.

"What are trumps in the game of life?"
I asked of all in busy strife.
"Hearts," said the maiden shy and sweet,
With happy eyes and blushes fleet.
The society belle smiled scornfully:
"Hearts for you, but diamonds for me."
"Clubs," drawled the blase man of the world,
Drifting down stream with his sails all furled.
The grave-digger laughed as he plied his trade:
"Spades are the final trumps," he said.

Harry comes highly recommended as a young man of sterling worth.

Miss Edith Dimmer gave a keno party at her home on Elm street Friday evening which was a delightful affair. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. The first prizes were awarded to Mr. Joe Dimmer and Miss Anna Kennen, and the consolation prizes were given to Mr. Chas. J. Herroeder and Miss Olive Schuckert. A fine supper was served late in the evening, followed by dancing, which concluded the evening's entertainment.

The S.'s of the Ladies Aid society gave a novel entertainment at G. A. R. hall last night. Each participant represented a picture in a photograph album, and, as Mr. Frank Baldwin announced each subject the curtain would rise and the "poser" would appear; arrayed in garments, befitting the character. The last scene was the family group and was represented as follows: Father, Mr. Stutzman; mother, Mrs. Baldwin; daughter, Ella Stroud; dude, Mrs. R. G. Sampson; country aunt, Mrs. Stutzman; Lord Fountelroy, Esther McMullen; country cousin, Maud Skinner; Jap twins, Fanny Sterling and Anabel Simpson; cow-boy, Maud Skinner; gypsy, Edith Speyer, gypsy, Mabel Stutzman; dress reformer, Alice Alexander.

Yesterday was the anniversary of Mr. F. J. Stolberg's birthday, and his wife planned a surprise party for him, last evening, in honor of the event. The house was artistically decorated with chryanthemums for the occasion. A very elegant ten course dinner was served, and cards and music made the happy evening a complete success. Mr. Stolberg's friends remembered him with a number of very nice presents, and all wish him "many returns of the day." Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. John Landgraff, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brock, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Wolfert, and Miss Carrie Blymaster.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The council committee on judiciary will meet this evening.

O. A. Browning, of Broadway, is making extensive repairs in the interior of his residence.

There were only two drunks and a petty larceny case disposed of in police court this morning.

Detectives Nichter and Carew at noon to-day arrested Thomas Lee and Joseph Eisele, on suspicion.

Barton Smith has taken out a building permit for a $2,000 frame house on the corner of Prescott and Fulton streets.

Judge Pugsley this morning granted Sarah Dexter a divorce from Theodore Dexter, on the grounds of drunkenness and extreme cruelty.

The real estate men and others interested are still discussing the Hopkins map and its correctness. A meeting was held last evening, another this morning, and a third one has been called for to-morrow at 11:30. Many of the subscribers have already paid for the maps. A number of inaccuracies are reported by the examining committee.

Probably the longest single span of wire rope in the world is that now in use in the construction of the great Austin dam at Austin, Tex.

The main cable is 1,350 feet long and 2 1-2 inches in diameter and the hoisting is done with a 3-4 inch steel rope.

The plant is used to carry away the material excavated and to place the the stone used in constructing the dam. The hoisting apparatus will lift a weight of seven tons and carry it the entire length of the span in about a minute and a half. The cost of handling material by this means is 4 or 5 cents per ton. At the iron ore and concentrating work, at Ogden, N. J., of which Edison is the moving spirit, there is similar cableway nearly as long as the one at Austin.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

FIRE ON THE TUG ALICE.

The tug Alice, anchored in Swan creek, near St. Clair street, was discovered on fire at 12:35 this morning. An alarm was turned in and the department responded. The fire was extinguished with the loss of the boat's cabin.

LEG MANGLED BY CARS.

A 14-year-old son of Joseph Garrett was run over by a Lake Shore train at Air Line Junction last evening about 6 o'clock, the wheels passing over his left leg. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where the leg was amputated. He is resting easy to-day.

THE SEASONS IN COURT.

In the county clerk's office this morning Solicitor Read stepped up to the young lady who has charge of the cases at issue and asked to see the papers in the cases of "Summers, Fall and Winter against the city." These seasonable cases are actually on file.

THE EAST SIDE BANK.

The workmen in the building where the East Side bank is to be located are now excavating for the vault foundations. It is hoped the changes will be made so that the bank will be opened for business not later than January 15. A meeting for election of directors will be held the last of this month or early in January, as soon, in fact, as the new rooms are ready for use.

OFFERING BAD MEAT FOR SALE.

At noon to-day Meat and Milk Inspector Raitz arrested a farmer named Lockwood for offering for sale meat unfit for human food. The man had two calves in his wagon on Market Space which the officer claims was unwholesome and poisonous by reason of their being killed too young. Lockwood owns a thousand acres of land around Pemberville and is well fixed financially.

A RUSSIAN EXILE.

Stephen Hewling applied at the infirmary office this morning for assistance to help him on his way to Chicago. He stated that he had been exiled from Russia and landed in New York city a pauper two weeks ago. He passed the guards at Castle Garden, and has since been knocking about the country. The desired assistance was refused.

ALMOST READY FOR USE.

The work upon the Second Congregational church, East Side, is just now at a standstill, waiting for the Smead heating and ventilating system to be put in. Trustee L. A. Brown, of the building committee, said to a Bee this morning that the committee hoped to have the basement of the church ready to be used for purposes of worship by or before Christmas, but the present unfavorable weather may delay the work.

IN THEIR NEW BUILDING.

The new Armour building at the corner of Washington and Erie streets is receiving the finishing touches and will soon be fully occupied. It is two stories in height and has been built with a view to convenience in handling the immense amount of meat that comes to this market. The different departments are models of neatness, and it would inure to Toledo's material prosperity if there were many more such substantial buildings within its limits.

REVENUE OFFICE REPORT.

The following is the report of the internal revenue office for the month of November:

JEFF DAVIS UNDER ARREST.

This morning Detectives Carew and Nichter learned of a negro who was going about the streets selling mittens, gloves, hats and other articles, all new and evidently stolen property. The officers soon located the itinerant merchant and took him into custody. They have recovered two pairs of leather mittens, one pair of woolen mittens with leather face, two knit Jersey shirts, one fur cap, one suit of gray underwear. Two fur caps have been identified as belonging, one to Studor and the other to Kohn, clothing dealers on Summit street. The man gave his name as Jefferson Davis. He will be tried in police court to-morrow.

TOLEDO SALESMEN.

The Toledo Salesmen"s association met in regular session last evening, and after some exciting contests the following gentlemen were honored with election to the various offices:

President—J. B. Cogans.
First Vice President—A. H. Kruger.
Second vice president—N. M. Gilsdorf.
Recording secretary—J. H. Mollenbrock.
Financial secretary—A. E. Weber.
Treasurer—Fred Graner.
Sergeant-at-arms—William Ewing.
Inner warden—L. H. Pillbricht.
Outer warden—Robert N. Bowers.
Trustees—H. L. DeShetler (full term), J. G. Gilsdorf (to fill vacancy).

The boys spent an enjoyable hour when election was concluded with a "smoker."

FADS WITH THE JEWELERS.

Pendants continue to be popular.

Bow knots in emaneled pins are "all the go."

Hoop earings of emerald and diamonds are fashionable.

Ball watches, imported, are new and exceedingly odd.

Pins in hoop designs with pearl and emerald settings are unique.

The fashionable ring is marquis style, set with rubies and diamond.

Bright silver cases, for playing cards, in fancy designs, are unique.

Brushes and dusters with fancy silver handles, are becoming a fad.

Novelties of every kind and description are the "craze" at the present time.

A bow knot of enamel with a miniature stick pin through it, set with a diamond, is among the novelties.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.

The corn supper given in the guild rooms of St. Mark's, Collingwood avenue, was a decided success. The decorations were appropriate, the flowers used being the yellow chrysanthemum, which combined with cornstalks, corn in the ear and strings of pop-corn presented a unique effect.

The doorways were festooned artistically with yellow draperies and corn. A pyramid of corn in one corner surmounted by chrysanthemums was indicative of this years' golden harvest. Strings of pop-corn adorned the gas jets.

The supper was served on small tables made attractive by snowy linen and silver; the committee in charge giving practical evidence of acquaintance with the art of serving.

Prizes were awarded for the heaviest and lightest weight. Prizes for heavy weight were a broom and a thermometer in an ear of corn; for light weights a corn cob pipe and a necklace of kerneis of corn.

Menu—First course, cornmeal mush and milk; second course, corn beef, canned corn, Johnny cake, corn bread; third course, cornmeal pudding, cornstarch pudding, cornstarch cake.

LAST NIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENT.

Wheeler's was crowded last night on the occasion of the third entertainment in the Star Course given by the Y. M. C. A. Shortly after 8 o'clock, Secretary Willard Smith appeared and in a few remarks thanked the audience for the liberal patronage, and spoke a good word for the entertainment committee, which is composed of Messrs. H. E. King, J. R. Calder, J. W. Rickenbaugh, and J. M. Ormond. He announced the appearance of Sir Edwin Arnold on Saturday night, and introduced the members of the New York Philharmonic Club.

A program of eight selections was rendered in an artistic manner, every number being heartily applauded. The club is composed of Messrs. Eugene Weiner, Ernst Mahr, Friedhold Hemman, John Marquardt, Sebastian Laedner, and August Kulkhof. Miss Marion S. Weed, the contralto, has a sweet voice of great power, and her selections last evening gave abundant opportunity to display the same. The lady was compelled to respond to encores at each appearance. The program, printed in last evening's Bee, was observed in its entirety, and the excellence displayed showed the ability of the membership of the club. The audience was throughly delighted. Remenyi is the next attraction on January 20.

OUR OWN GUNCKEL.

The Dayton Herald of last evening has the following complimentary reference to our own John Gunckel:

"One of the happiest, brightest and wittiest contributors to any of our sporting papers is Mr. J. E. Gunckel of Toledo, O. He is a veritable Isaak Walton in all that pertains to fish and fishing. He can tell a black bass on the darkest days known to the muddy waters of the Maumee. His latest article on "The Black Bass in the Sandusky River" should be read by every member of the Dayton Pelee club. Mr. Gunckel is a regular contributor to Forest and Stream.

DEATH IN HIS CELL.

A Sensation at Fremont To-Day.

A Young Man Arrested for Obtaining Goods Under False Pretenses Puts a Bullet Through His Body.

Fremont, O., Dec. 2.—(Special)—At 9 o'clock this morning Marshal Lynch arrested a well dressed young fellow named Munce, known as Brunner, who is wanted at Norwalk for receiving goods under false pretenses.

Munce is a recently discharged Wheeling brakeman and secured the goods by giving an order on the company for the amount, about $40.

He was placed in a cell in jail without being searched, to await the arrival of the Norwalk marshal.

Ten minutes later a pistol shot was heard and Munce was found lying on the cell floor bleeding profusely from a bullet hole directly over his heart.

A 32 calibre revolver, with which he had done the deed, lay on the floor.

He was conscious, although he would not talk much. A note was found in his pocket with the words: "Send my body to my mother, Mary Munce, Graytown, Ohio, and bury me beside my father."

Drs. White and Reiff examined the wound and say he can live but a few hours.

The bullet pierced the left lung.

The man endeavored several times to make a statement to the Bee, but was too exhausted to do so.

GOV. CAMPBELL ILL.

Columbus, O., Dec. 2.—Gov. Campbell returned from Chicago this morning quite ill with a very sore throat and high fever, and immediately took to his bed.

DOWN THE STREAM.

Love! It began with a glance,
Grew with the growing of flowers,
Smiled in a dreamful trance,
Reckoned not the passage of hours;
Our passions flood rose ever,
Flowing for her and for me,
Till the brook became a river,
And the river became a sea.

Grief! It began with a word,
Grew with the winds that raved;
A prayer for pardon unheard;
Pardon in turn uncraved;
The bridge so easy to sever,
The stream so swift to be free,
Till the brook became a river,
And the river became a sea.

Life! It began with a sigh,
Grew with the leaves that are dead.
Its pleasures with wings to fly,
Its sorrows with limbs of lead;
And rest remaineth never
For the wearier years to be,
Till the brook shall become a river,
And the river becomes a sea.
—Robert Lord Houghton.

WON ON ITS MERITS.

At a meeting of the Toledo Water Works company last evening, the directors, after a careful investigation, awarded the contract for the new boilers to Arbuckle, Ryan & Co. of this city, who are to put in the celebrated "Sterling" boiler that is now so rapidly coming to the front.

It is a contract in which not only Arbuckle, Ryan & Co. can be pleased with, but when such careful business men as Mr. Cotter, superintendent of the water works company, and his associates decide in favor of the Sterling boiler, it certainly will be gratifying to the company that manufacture them and to the citizens of Toledo who are always interested in improvements.

WHAT OF THAT?

"Tired!" well, what of that?
Didst fancy life was made for beds of ease!
To flit, like rose leaves, scattered by the breeze?
Come, rouse thee! Work while it is called to-day,
Coward, arise, go forth upon thy way!

"Lonely!" And what of that?
Some will be lonely; 'tis not given to all
To find a heart responsive to its call,
Blending another life into its own.
Work may be done in loneliness! Work on!

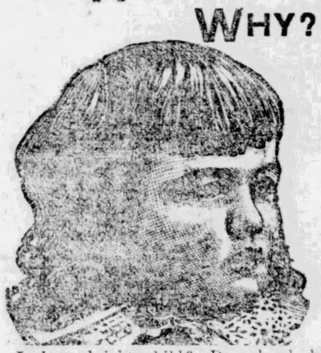
"Dark!" well, and what of that?
Didst fancy life one summer holiday,
With lessons none to learn, and naught but play?
Go—get thee to thy task—conquer or die!
It must be learned; learn it then patiently.

"No help!" Nay, 'tis not so.
Though human help be far, thy God is nigh.
He feeds the ravens, and hears thy cry.
He's near thee always, where thy footsteps roam,
And he will guide, and cheer and help thee home!
—Presbyterian Record.

Feed the Cows Well.

All the indications at present are in favor of higher prices for dairy products the coming winter, and we would urge upon dairymen the importance of feeding the cows as well as they know how. Up to a certain point the feed goes to make milk and flesh and it is important to have cows that do not too readily take on flesh, for we want most of the feed to go towards the making of rich milk. We hope that dairymen who complain that there is no money in dairying will try the effect of extra feeding before they condemn the business as being unprofitable. We have heard of such great yields of milk and butter from cows that were regarded as being nothing out of the common that we are convinced that there are thousands of cows that give poor yields for no other reason than that they are not half fed. Take one cow for trial (if you don't care to risk increasing the feed of the whole herd) and gradually increase her feed until you have doubled it in quantity and see if the profit does not increase as the feed is increased. Bear in mind, though, that a cow that has never been fed up to her limit of profitable consumption of feed will not stand heavy feeding all at once; you must get her used to it by degrees. If the feed is gradually increased her digestive system will respond to the tax put upon it and in a few weeks she will show what she is capable of doing.—National Stockman.

HEALTHY. HAPPY. WHY?



Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we give in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Hand's Remedies.

I have used, as occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Colic Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

No mother would make a statement like the above unless she knew wholly whereof she affirmed.

Licorice root comes principally from Asia Minor, and is the root of a bush not more than three or four feet high. The dried roots are sent to Bagdad and thence to London and America. The black licorice stick in the drug stores comes mostly from Spain, and is made of pure juice mixed with a little starch, which prevents it from melting in warm weather. The word licorice means "sweet root," and is of Greek origin.

Solids and Fluids in Corn.

We all know our common Indian corn and what a quantity of food for man and beast it furnishes. Take a large plant of fully matured corn, make it into a compact shape and weigh it. Then put it into an oven and dry it thoroughly, as a chemist would in his drying-bath. Now weigh it again, and you will find the weight of the water it has lost, and will be surprised to note the amount which this matured corn contained. Now take the dried corn plant and burn it slowly so that no part of the ashes can be blown away; continue the burning until the ashes are left perfectly white, gathering the ashes in a cruicible for this purpose. We will find that these white ashes weigh very little when compared with the weight of the great stalks, ear and foliage we begin with.

What has gone with all the rest, now that we have but a handful of ashes? The fire has destroyed it, you say. No, we cannot destroy anything. The burning only changed the form of the plant. The things that made up the corn still exist, but they have gone back to the air, from whence the plant first got them. The pile of ashes in our hand is about one-twentieth of the original weight of the dry plant, and in it are the materials that the plant got from the soil. The nine-tenths that have disappeared in the air show how large a part of all plants come from the air. The ashes are the mineral part, and got into the plant by being completely dissolved in the soil water, which it took up in making its growth.—F. Massey, in Home and Farm.

Except in writing business letters it is no longer considered elegant to finish with a flourish of capitals. Instead of "Believe me, Very Sincerely Yours," in the old style, this sentence comes in at the end of the usual farewell messages and in the same lettering as the rest of the epistle, the name only being disconnected and beginning with capitals.

Ladies, see the beautiful Hosiery shown by LAMSON BROS.

The hot water boxes are to be taken out of the French railway carriages and warmth is to come from boxes filled with soda in a solid state, which is liquefied by being plunged into hot water. As it solidifies, which takes five or six hours, it steadily gives out heat.

The differences in character between the people of the various sections of Brazil, a country about as big as the United States, are very marked. The states south of the equator are industrious and enterprising, but the northern states, in which the heat is oppressive and the means of life can easily be got, are languid and indolent. The natural resources of the northern section of Brazil surpass those of the southern section, and yet the southerners are more prosperous than the northerners.

PEACE ON EARTH

Is not the boon vouchsafed to the chronic, nervous invalid. Slight noises startle him. He neither sleeps soundly nor eats heartily, he is almost invaribly troubled with dyspepsia. What should he do? Begin and pursue systematically a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. With digestion fortified and food assimilated, strength returns, the nerves grow tranquil and the zest of life returns. A blessed consummation indeed, and not only effectually but pleasantly wrought by the Bitters. Biliousness, malaria, rheumatism, kidney complaint are also prevented and cured by this sovereign regulating medicine. Try it once if your nerves are out of order, and if their weakness is perpetuated by the existence of disease. A superb appetizer and promoter of sound repose.

Bellboys at the first-class hotels make more money than mechanics, while the earnings of many of them will far exceed those of many professional men. The pay is small, seldom amounting to over $20 or $25 a month and board, but the tips are what count. There is one bellboy, or rather bellman, for he is over thirty years of age, at the Fifth Avenue hotel, who makes $200 a month, in addition to which he gets his meals at the hotel.
